LOOK OUT FOR FIRE!

To Theater Owners, Managers and Whom it May Concern:

This is to certify that I have equipped the Windsor theater in this city with the Lindgren stationary chemical fire engines. After examining all other systems of fire protection, and after repeated tests of the Lindgren stationary chemical fire engine, and upon the recommendation of the insurance underwriters, I have no hesitation in pronouncing it the cheapest and most powerful, as well as perfect, fire protection for theaters ever invented. In my opinion every theater and opera house in the United States, as well as Europe, should be equipped with these chemical fire engines, and thus save the loss of life and thousands of dollars in property.

Respectfully,

To Whom it May Concern:

This is to certify that I, George A. Burbank, witnessed the exhibition of the Lindgren chemical engine test to-day, and as I have witnessed a great many such chemical tests in New York City, Boston, Mass., and other large cities in the East, I hereby state that it was the quickest and most satisfactory test, and was also pronounced so by two of our councilmen and all the citizens present, and I will also state that the time of applying the chemical was left entirely to me and I did not give the word until the fire was well started, for in other tests I have witnessed they have always put the chemical on the minute the fire was started and water would answer just as well, as there was nothing but the flame started and the wood not charred, and I take great pleasure in recommending the "Lindgren" as far superior to any other "Chemical" engine on the market.

LEGISLATURE AT WORK

House Members Start Their Labors With a Wrangle.

"CLERK FOX DRUNK AS A LORD."

Appeal Against Speaker Feighan's Decision Sustained.

A NUMBER OF BILLS INTRODUCED

Expense of the Session—Agricultural College Bill—Against Adulteration of Dairy Products—Some Indignant Law Makers.

OLYMPIA, Nov. 21.—The legislature will meet in joint convention at 11 o'clock A. M. to-morrow to receive Governor Ferry's first message.

The house settled down to work to-day, but did not do much of it, owing to a wrangle or two.

Judson, of Pierce, has the honor of introducing the first bill in the first state legislature. It was offered at 12:30 P. M.

The senate did nothing but adopt rules of procedure. By next week the houses will be at work in earnest. The morning and afternoon sessions will begin at 10 and 3 respectively, and end at the will of the members.

The house became involved in a big wrangle about a trivial matter this afternoon. Shaw is responsible for it. When the report of the rules committee, of which he is a member, had been adopted, he renewed his complaint that it had been impossible to obtain a clerk to do the work. He said Enrolling Clerk C. E. Fox had been sent for, and the messenger came back with the report that he was as drunk as a lord, when found. Shaw did not present written charges.

Kuhn did not consider this, but immediately jumped head first into the fire with a motion to discharge Fox instanter, which the chair ruled out of order, holding that it would be necessary to impeach Fox.

Judson of Pierce promptly appealed from the decision of the chair and a long discussion ensued as to whether it would be necessary to impeach Fox.

Speaker Feighan called Geoghegan to the chair and argued in justification of his ruling. The fact that Fox was from his county, he said, had no bearing on his decision. He maintained that Fox was an officer of the house and as such could not be summarily removed without proceedings akin to impeachment.

Judson of Pierce was very cutting in his remarks: "I hope the house will not stultify itself in sustaining this decision," he said. "It is ridiculous. It is hair splitting to think that any lawyer would hold that the constitution requires the impeachment of a drunken employe, and any one who does so, would be called by a great many people a shyster."

A vote was formally taken on the question—"Shall the decision of the chair stand as the judgment of the house?" It stood yeas 32, nays 33. The vote stood as follows:

AYES.

Allen, Bird, Blackburn, Blackfan, Bothell, Bush, Clark, Cook, Cornwell, Day, Dean, Foster, Gandy, Geoghegan, Gilchrist, Grubb, Hamilton, Hughes, Huntington, Lull, Minkler, Nims, Ostrander, Palmer, Peterson, Power, Purdy, Randall, Shaw, Straight, Tucker.—32.

NOES.

Blair, Browne, (Pierce) Brown, (Spo.) Cloman, Drew, Eddy, Farrish, Grant, Herren, Hutchinson, Judson (Pierce), Judson, (What) Kandle, Kennedy, Kuhn, McReavy, Meade, Megler, Morse, Moultray, Nash, Olliphant, Person, Pickrell, Plummer, Robertson, Rotch, Rutter, Sharpe, Shinn, Stevenson, Weatherford—33.

Kuhn gave it fresh impetus with a motion providing for an investigation with a view of dispensing with Fox's services. It was laid on the table.

Then Pickrell wanted the sergeant-at-arms to bring Fox before the house at once.

Clarke was willing to have this done to-morrow morning. "He may be as drunk as a lord now," he said amid laughter. "We have all been boys ourselves and know how difficult it is."

Several members jumped up and said they had never been drunk in their lives.

Purdy retorted by moving to bring any member who had been out drinking with Fox before the house. It was finally agreed to refer the matter to the committee on rules, with instructions to report to-morrow morning.

The message of the committee found him last night. He said he was the enrolling clerk, and was not required to do ordinary committee work.

Fox appeared before the committee on rules at its meeting to-night, and confessed that he had imbibed a little too much in celebration of the senatorial election. He promised not to err again and the charges will not be pressed, nor will he be brought before the bar of the house and called upon for an explanation.

The report of the joint committee on printing, awarding the contract for state work to the State Printing and Publishing Company for thirty days at 75 cents per thousand ems, gave rise to a warm discussion when it was presented to the house, to-day. Kuhn maintained that the rates were too high, and Hughes said they were offered to get good work. The democrats jumped upon the report in a twinkling, as being vicious legislation.

Judson, of Whatcom, charged the committee with ignoring a lower bid, and declared that if it was the intention, in awarding the contract, to give something to somebody's friend the state should know it. He said the company employed rat printers.

Hughes answered that the committee had not been authorized to receive bids from anyone, but thought the state could pay the prices named for thirty days.

The report was adopted by a vote of 43 to 24.

Blackfan, Blair, Brown of Spokane, Eddy, Gandy, Grubb, Herren, Kandle, Moultray, Person, Plummer, Purdy, Robertson, Rutter and Tucker voted with the democrats.

Stevenson introduced a bill in the house to-day to establish a state agricultural college in Whitman county. The subject is left to a committee of five of the house and senate, who are empowered to purchase eighty acres at not more than $40 per acre. The proceeds arising from the sale of the ninety thousand acres of land granted by congress in the enabling act shall be applied to the support of the college. The expenses of the first year are limited to $5000, and of the second to $6000. After that the limit will be set by the board of regents.

Judson of Whatcom must think the present legislature is a cheap one. His bill appropriating $100,000 for the expenses of the session would convey this impression. His estimate is too short by $50,000. The session will last fully four months. Clerk hire and the employes of the house and senate call for $142 a day, and the per diem of the members for $520 more.

Geoghegan, of Clarke county, has figured it out that the present session costs the tax payers $4 a minute.

Stevenson introduced a bill in the house to-day to prevent the adulteration of dairy products. It is modeled after the Oregon law and requires oleomargarine to be plainly marked, and if it is sold in restaurants the bill of fare must say so. If there is no bill of fare a notice must be posted on the walls. The penalty is a fine from $50 to $200 or imprisonment in the county jail of from one to three months or both.

PROCEEDINGS IN DETAIL.

First Day of Actual Legislation—Introduction of Bills.

The senate met at 1 P. M. The report of the special committee on rules was read and adopted, after providing that the committee on claims be made a joint committee. The senate then took up the report of the committee on rules.

Rinehart thought the provision was not in order, as the constitution provided that a president pro tem be elected for each session of the senate. It was considered as a fling at President pro tem Parkinson, but no action was taken.

A considerable discussion took place over rule 9, which was drawn in such a manner as to require the signature of the whole committee to a report, and compelled the minority to file a report also, and state their objections.

Houghton thought that the chairman's name would be sufficient on a committee report, and objected to compelling the minority to make a report.

Owings wanted to put the members on record, and favored letting the rule stand as it was.

Whatley also favored the rule as it stood, and Parkinson was in favor of all possible publicity. The rule, if adopted, would place everybody on record, and he was in favor of doing that.

Senator Kneeland wanted the rule to stand.

Long had known of committee reports being made by the chairman of a committee without any meeting ever being held. This rule would avoid any such proceedings.

Wood finally offered a substitute, which requires the chairman of a committee to sign the report and name the members who concurred therein, which was adopted.

On the question as to whether the minority should be compelled to file a report, the roll was called and it was decided by a vote of 20 to 12 that the minority may file their objections.

Senator Kinnear moved to strike out section 20 of the rules, that proposed providing that one day's notice shall be given of the introduction of a bill, unless by consent of a majority of the senate. He was opposed to this restriction. One of the primary rights of members was to introduce bills when they had them ready; carried.

Senator Payne moved that the membership of the committee on granted school lands and state tide lands be increased from five to seven; carried. The rules with amendments were then adopted.

IN THE HOUSE.

First reading of bills: By Judson of Pierce—To appropriate $20,000 to pay deficiencies for supplies purchased for the Steilacoom insane asylum.

By Hughes—Appropriating $350 to purchase 1000 copies of the constitution for the use of the legislature.

By Stevenson—To prevent deception in the sale of dairy products.

By Judson of Whatcom—Appropriating $100,000 to pay the expenses of the first legislature of Washington.

By Stevenson—To establish a state agricultural college in Whitman county.

By Grant—Providing that the expression, "Territory of Washington," used in the laws, shall be construed to mean state of Washington.

COST OF A JUTE MILL.

Penitentiary Commissioner Parker Furnishes an Estimate.

There has been some talk lately of adding a jute mill to the state penitentiary at Walla Walla, to give the convicts something to do. Colonel Frank J. Parker, of Walla Walla, president of the penitentiary commission, is an active opponent of the plan. He was here yesterday and furnished the following estimate of the cost of a jute plant and of the annual cost of operating one that would employ 100 men.

During his trip around the world two years ago he devoted much attention to the subject and is well informed:

Cost of machinery in England	$25,000
Extras and duplicate parts	2,500
Duty on same 40 per cent	10,000
New workshops	12,000
Residences for superintendent and instructors	5,000
One superintendent, salary per year	2,000
Two instructors at $1,000	2,000
Cargo of jute from Calcutta	20,000
One machinist, salary	1,000
One engineer	800
Four extra guards at $600 per year	2,400
Fuel for engine, 24 hours at $800 per month	9,600
Freight and placing machinery	1,500
Total	$93,800

These figures represent the actual cost at very low estimates of the expenditure before a single jute sack can be manufactured. The estimate for fuel appears high, but is based upon the actual cost of fuel for running the electric light for one month six hours in the twenty-four. The wood bill for that period amounted to $800, besides the expenses of the engineer at $75 per month, when the commissioners very sensibly ordered the plant shut down and returned to the old oil lamp system, thereby saving the state over $7000 per year. The senate substitute for the Mills bill is committed to the free admission of jute and bagging, which will reduce the present cost of sacks one-half.

The last legislature made an appropriation of $25,000 for jute machinery, but ordered the commissioners to make a thorough investigation and due inquiry regarding it before purchasing, and furthermore instructed them that the money was not to be expended unless the expenditure could be kept within the appropriation. Colonel Parker states that they could have easily expended the money and complied with the law, but it would have eventually entailed a still greater expense, and the concern would necessarily have lain idle until the present legislature met and made further appropriations for the purchase of a cargo of jute and the other necessary expenses which would include a special building for workshops and embraced the figures given. Having no other appropriation to keep the convicts employed, they drew on their maintenance fund for the establishment of a brick yard. They drew out $1200 for the purchase of a second-hand three-horse power Martin brick machine, and with this they employed the convicts in the manufacture of brick for the new buildings, thereby saving the state some $15,000, and enabling them to keep within the appropriation for the erection of the new wing officer's headquarters and stable, but also erecting a large building for the machinery, laundry, and blacksmith shop, which was necessary, but no appropriation made for. Brick was also sold last year, which, with other earnings, amounted to $3540, which was sent to the territorial treasurer according to the law.

The commissioners claim they are the only ones who have finished their buildings, and not only kept within the appropriation, but made money besides for the state. This year their net profits from the brick yard alone amount to between $5000 and $6000, and they will send over $12,000 to the treasury. Their maintenance fund has been exhausted for some time, but it has been owing solely to their drawing upon it for the necessary expenses, fuel, etc., in running the brick yard.

Colonel Parker, during his visit to Great Britain two years ago, visited the great jute mills in Dundee, and after being appointed commissioner of the penitentiary, made a special visit to the jute mill at San Quentin, in California, and there obtained knowledge which resulted in the saving to the state of $25,000.

A THREATENING FIRE.

Flames Do Much Damage to the Western Union Tower in New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—A fire was discovered in the tower of the Western Union building, above the Associated Press office, at 3:40 this morning, and at 4 o'clock the flames were gaining headway and not a drop of water had been gotten on the flames. Firemen dragged a line of hose into the Associated Press windows on the ninth floor. Three times the hose was broken while being hauled up. At 5 o'clock the firemen succeeded in getting a couple of streams turned upon the fire, but it was a stubborn one. It had gained good headway among a great pile of messages and records stored in the tower, and a dense volume of smoke, interspersed with the curling flames, kept pouring forth. A great crowd congregated in the street below. All the employes, men and women, in the Western Union restaurant on the eighth floor, were promptly awakened when the fire was discovered, and got out. Water kept splashing on the skylight of the Associated Press office where this dispatch was written and streams rushed down the stairways and through the crevices in the floor.

At 5:30 the fire was gotten under control and the rushing streams of water supplemented the damage done by the smoke and flame. Water is now flowing over the floors of nearly all the offices on the upper stories and the employes are busily engaged with brooms trying to keep it running down stairs. This fire has proven that standpipes in buildings are useless at this height, as it [illegible] takes fully an hour to get a line of hose [illegible] to the top of the building.

The damage to the Western Union building by the fire will amount to only $5000 and to [illegible] $1,000.

THE SENATORIAL DEAL.

Allen Condemned for His Combination With Squire.

WANTED VICTORY TO BE CERTAIN

The Matter Was Arranged in a Midnight Conference.

ACCUSED OF DESERTING FRIENDS

Governor Moore's Deep Chagrin—They Deemed the Combine Unnecessary—Stormy Political Seas in Store for Allen.

OLYMPIA, Nov. 21.—There is considerable dissatisfaction and disappointment on the part of many of Allen's friends on account of the combination with Squire he allowed himself to be wheedled into. It is a well known fact that Squire was anxious from the beginning to have an understanding with Allen, but the latter uniformly refused to enter into anything which could be construed into a combination, at the urgent solicitations of his friends. The fact of the matter was that several of the leading Allen men were strong anti-Squire men, and above all things they did not want Squire elected with Allen. Governor Moore, Henry Long, H. W. Fairweather, Tom Cavanaugh and others were steadfastly in opposition to Squire and advised against any combination with him, but on the night before election Allen began to get anxious. His canvass had not been managed with that ability and skill he could have expected from his friends. The errors made had been many and serious. There was the first adjournment, for instance, that was a glaring error, as were also the after-attempts to take a vote.

All these things bothered and distressed him. Of course he had the personal pledges of a majority of the legislature, but he was experienced enough in politics to know that he was not sure of any more until his vote was cast. A trifling mistake, a false charge, a successful combination might cause a stampede and leave him flat on his back. He was beginning to get anxious and dissatisfied on the night before election. Leigh Hunt, as the representative of Mr. Squire, and also a close friend of Mr. Allen's, made advances which Mr. Allen was disposed to listen to. The uncertainty was getting too much for him, and he knew that with Squire's forces he could make a sure thing of it.

About 12 o'clock that night Mr. Allen, with Mr. Crowley, of Walla Walla, met with Hunt in a secret conference. The first proposition on the part of Allen towards an agreement was that his name should be proposed and voted for first. Mr. Hunt was prepared to concede this, and the combination was virtually made. The plan as regarded any understanding was to be kept perfectly secret from the rank and file. Only this should be revealed, that it had been agreed to vote for Allen first. All this was done without the knowledge of any of Allen's friends, except Mr. Crowley and Mr. Hunt. The scheme worked perfectly, as every one knows, but it put many of Allen's best friends in a furious pass on with him. They say he was assured of an election without any aid from Mr. Squire. They had worked night and day to bring about this condition of affairs in his favor. They claim that they were at least entitled to know of such a combination in order to get in and out of the wet.

Governor Moore especially, was worked up about the affair, and it is said that he and a number of friends had a confidential talk with Mr. Allen that left some soreness. By many it is believed that the combine between Mr. Allen and Mr. Squire on that night contained an agreement for an offensive and defensive alliance between them in future political operations, and that the principal motive of Allen was to avoid any combination against him on the part of Mr. Squire and Mr. Wilson. In this light it is looked upon as a very shrewd move.

Governor Moore, Hon. D. F. Percival and two other gentlemen went to see Allen on the evening of his election, and the report is circulated that the gentlemen came as near getting into a row as was consistent with their personal safety. Governor Moore, it is said, spoke his mind plainly and forcibly to John B. Allen, and accused him of deserting his life-long friends to play into the hands of an enemy who would only use him and then discard him. Moore told him that his election was assured in any event, and that he had simply thrown over his friends on account of an anxiety which had no foundation in fact. The governor was very bitter, and Allen did not take his remarks with very good grace. The ex-governor prophesied some very stormy and troubled seas for the new senators, and retired mad.

GOSSIP OF THE CAPITAL.

Senatorial Certificates Signed—Supreme Court Notes—Code Commission Rumors.

Governor Ferry to-day signed the certificates of election of Senators Squire and Allen. Squire's certificate was sent to him at Seattle, and Allen carried his with him when he left for home this afternoon.

Governor Ferry to-day issued a proclamation calling for a special election in Pierce county, on December 10, to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Representative Hewitt.

The supreme court of Washington is now fully organized and the supreme court clerk, So Smith, has qualified, and appointed Mr. A. S. Austin, of this city, as his deputy. The court has adopted the old rules for the present, and all the old books except the journal will be used by the court. Mr. Smith will move his family from Glendale to this city immediately. Court will convene on the first Monday in January. There are about thirty-five old cases on the calendar to be disposed of and fourteen new cases have been docketed.

In the case of Angus McClane, now under sentence of death, the motion for a new trial will be argued, Colonel Haines having been retained by McClane.

The code commission has placed the remuneration for clerk of supreme court at $1500 and that of the librarian at $600. An effort, it is said, will be made to have the clerk attend to both offices, but the plan is hardly feasible, as the appointment of several deputies would be necessary.

The military board held a meeting last night and decided to admit the new Tacoma infantry and cavalry companies into the First regiment.

There is some speculation as to what will be done with the report of the code commission which was submitted to the house yesterday. Nothing has been seen of the manuscript yet, but it will be called for within a few days. The report is good enough as far as it goes but it does not go far enough. Representative Geoghegan thinks of introducing a bill to refer the code, subject to a commission to be appointed by Governor Ferry. Among those prominently named as members of the proposed commission are William Lair Hill, of Seattle, who compiled the Oregon code, Judges Green, Burke and Hanford, of Seattle, and Judge Turner, of Spokane Falls.

Z. T. Dodge, Charles Painter and D. W. Higgins, representing the Washington Printing Company of Seattle, are here, looking for a big job. They want a contract to publish 200 sets of the code containing the laws passed since the organization of the territory in 1853. They want $75 a set, or $15,000 for the job.

The legislature to-day passed a concurrent resolution authorizing the supreme court to hold sessions in the state library building until better accommodations.

A thief got into the quarters of Representative Allen of King county in Temple Flat last night and rifled Allen's pockets of $[illegible]. Allen woke up just as the fellow was making his exit.

The Ore Producers' Convention.

SALT LAKE, Utah, Nov. 21.—The ore producers' convention here finished its labors to-day by the adoption of an address, demanding the free coinage of silver, the repeal of the Bland law, and the issue of silver certificates on deposits of silver bullion. A resolution was also adopted calling for a combination of the mining states and territories in a protective union for mutual benefit.

SHOALWATER BAY BAR SOUNDINGS

North Yakima Mining Syndicate—Gambling at Spokane Falls Stopped—Walla Walla Court News—Seattle's Accident Budget

DRAIN, O., Nov 21.—The tug Fearless of Coos Bay, Captain James Hill commanding, ran on to North Spit, at the mouth of the Umpqua river, Tuesday evening, and soon went to pieces. Not one of the crew or the passengers escaped. She was on her return trip from Astoria, where she had gone to take a lot of Chinamen lately discharged from the canneries on Coos Bay. At 2 P. M. Tuesday she was seen off Upper Ten Mile steaming slowly down the coast just outside the breakers, which were running very high, and at 6 o'clock her whistle was heard off the mouth of the Umpqua. At a quarter before seven she gave three sharp whistles, which was the last seen or heard of her until the next morning, when her pilot house with the [illegible] stove in, a small boat, the stern, one side of her hull and numerous small pieces were discovered coming up the river with the tide. The steamer Juno at once steamed down to the mouth of the river and put a searching party ashore and the beach was patrolled for miles to the south, but no bodies were discovered. Other parties who came down the coast from the north reported that they had seen no bodies in that direction. The general impression of seafaring men is that she had sprung a leak and that the captain was attempting to get into the river in order to save the lives of those on board and either miscalculated his position or was blown out of his course by the heavy wind prevailing at the time. The number lost is said to be from ten to fifteen souls.

The Fearless was not generally considered seaworthy. She was built on Coos Bay about seventeen years ago and was owned by Simpson & Co. The following named were among the lost: James Hill, captain; Walter Keating and Henry Grow, engineers; two deck hands; George Marshall, a cannery man.

Soundings Show 20 Feet of Water on the Bar at Low Tide.

CHEHALIS, Nov 20.—N. B. Coffman, who a week ago accompanied several gentlemen interested in the Pacific, Chehalis & Eastern railroad, to Shoalwater bay, returned to-day. On arriving at the bay the party chartered a tug and proceeded to make careful soundings of the channel both inside and across the bar. In the north channel the shoalest water found on the bar was 20 feet and in the south 27. The soundings were made at dead low tide and the lead thrown every 80 feet. At only one place were these extreme low points found and immediately the water deepened to 30 and 40 feet. The party was highly pleased. As the gentlemen composing this party are those sent out to examine the country in the interest of the proposed railroad, this report is received here with much satisfaction. They went over the trail from here to Shoalwater bay and carefully examined the intervening country. The surveyors at work on the route west of here are expected home to-morrow, having made one location from here to tidewater and are now returning on another route.

The coal prospectors came in this afternoon with some fine specimens of anthracite coal. They have made over 100 locations for prominent men of this city who have been assisting them in their search. It is now settled that without a doubt we have within easy access of this point rich deposits of anthracite coal. The early spring will see some startling developments both in the silver and coal districts adjacent to North Yakima. Several prominent and moneyed men have visited the sections and all believe that they are the richest that have yet been discovered in the state.

Some of the mineral paint recently discovered on the upper Natchez has been ground up in oil and experts state it is of a far superior quality to that of the Ohio article, and the promoters have shut up for a couple of tons of it which will be ground and sent out to wholesale paint men for their opinion.

Malarkey, who shot Lewis, is a notorious Knight of Labor agitator and leader of the mob which went to Newcastle from Gilman last January and created a riot in which William Ruston was killed. THE ENDOWMENT HOUSE OATHS.

Further Interesting Testimony at the Trial at Salt Lake

SALT LAKE, Nov 21.—In the Mormon investigation to-day Mrs. B. Smith, niece by marriage of Joseph Smith, was called as a witness for the church. She had officiated in the Endowment house, but knew of no oath taken to avenge the blood of Joseph and Hiram Smith.

George Q. Cannon, the noted Mormon leader, was called by the prosecution, and identified the circular sent out by himself and John Taylor in 1885 calling on the saints in this and the adjoining territories to contribute to the fund for the defense of the Mormons charged with violating the Edmunds law, etc.

Mrs. Gilmore went through the Endowment house seventeen years ago with a number of others, all of whom were called upon to swear to avenge the blood of Joseph and Hiram Smith upon the American nation, and teach it to their children and children's children to the fourth generation. Any one who violated the oath or revealed the secrets was to be killed.

Henry W. Lawrence, president of the Chamber of Commerce, testified that he became a Mormon in childhood. He came to Utah thirty-nine years ago, officiated in the Endowment house for several years and was excommunicated in 1869 for questioning the right of the priesthood to dictate in temporal affairs. Persons going through the Endowment house always took the oath of vengeance. There was another covenant to obey the priesthood in all things, and the penalty of death was attached to the violation of the covenants or the revealing of the secrets of the house. In the time of Brigham Young the priesthood was supreme, and Young controlled the people in all things. The church was in opposition to the government and the feelings of the people were [illegible] and more [illegible] witness and some others started a magazine to [illegible] advanced ideas and were tried before a council of the priests [illegible] George Q. HE HAD WORKED THE GAME BEFORE

The "Chronicle" Claims that the San Francisco Chamber Was Right in Withdrawing—The City's Interest Would Suffer

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov 21.—Charles Montgomery, owner of the American Exchange hotel, has made a statement showing that he has been the victim of a confidence operator who has succeeded in swindling him out of about $130,000, and made it necessary for him to make an assignment.

Over two years ago he met a young man giving the name of F. Glencross Grant, who had identified himself with the Young Men's Christian Association here. Montgomery took an interest in him and finally formed a partnership with him in the agricultural implement business. A company was formed known as the Bull & Grant Farm Implement Company, with stores here and in Los Angeles. Grant was placed in charge of the Los Angeles store, and Mr. Montgomery, who furnished the capital, has recently discovered that Grant has contracted debts and has also appropriated proceeds from the sale of machinery amounting to about $80,000.

Grant's record has been looked up and it has been discovered that his name is Cleneross and that he committed similar offenses in London and fled to this country. His whereabouts now are unknown. Montgomery announces that he finds it necessary to make an assignment on account of Grant's fraudulent transactions. His liabilities are about $220,000 and his assets $318,000.

"I met F. Glencross Grant over two and a half years ago, when he was out of work and out of money," said Mr. Montgomery this afternoon. "I attended a bible reading meeting which I conducted in the Young Men's Christian Association. I believed him to be a sincere Christian and deserving of help. He took a leading part in Young Men's Christian Association work, was a member of the Methodist church and no one doubted his honesty. I became interested in him and to procure him a position I invested $10,000 in a half interest in a stock of farm implements. A company was incorporated and called the Bull & Grant Farm Implement Company, with a store in San Francisco and one in Los Angeles. The latter store was placed under the management of Mr. Grant. There was serious friction between Messrs. Bull and Grant, the latter of whom came to San Francisco to see me, and represented that he did not have fair play; that because of his Christian principles and high sense of honor he was not needed. He recommended that I buy the Los Angeles store from the corporation and take him in as general partner. This I did, paying over $20,000 for the stock and merchandise on hand. My name gave him unlimited credit and he made haste to take advantage of it. Within three months after the partnership he had all the capital, then nearly $30,000, invested and had me over $11,000 in debt. Then came a depreciation of the property in Southern California and left us with a heavy stock of unsalable goods on hand. He was a thief by nature and practice. He stole over $80,000 worth of merchandise. He signed notes, acceptances and contracts and contracted debts to large amounts, and has practically ruined me."

My actual losses will be from $70,000 to $130,000. In Los Angeles on the 26th of last month he admitted that he was a thief and that Grant was not his name. When I first met Grant [illegible] had an income of $15,000 a year and was spending $10,000 in charitable and gospel work. Now it is all swept away. I have prosecuted my Christian work with my own money. I have helped over one thousand ex-convicts back to lives of industry and honesty. My work has been chiefly among the fallen and non-church goers, work that but few would care to do. When I found myself in this strange predicament I felt that I had been an uninjured man. I still keep the trouble like a man."

FLAGRANT INGRATITUDE.

Much sympathy is expressed for Montgomery. He is well known in this city as an old resident and an enthusiastic private evangelist. He has had some trouble with his creditors, for besides looking after spiritual matters extensively Montgomery has been largely interested in business. He takes up a deal of space in the city directory, as the following entry will show, and yet it represents only a part of his enterprises: Charles Montgomery with Montgomery brothers, proprietors of the American Exchange hotel; John L. Meyers & Co., lamps, etc.; Bull & Grant, farm implements; Bryant street; Charles Montgomery & Co., tea and spice merchants; proprietors of the Montgomery hotel, Second street; officer in the Bible Truth depot, Flood building; president of the West Coast Steamship Company. The difficulty with his creditors was brought about by Montgomery.

The difficulty with his creditors was brought about by Montgomery himself, who realized that one of his numerous speculations was proving disastrous. He therefore called the creditors together in this city and communicated with them, telling them just how he had been placed by the perfidy of his partner. The creditors here all seem inclined to give Montgomery time and assistance.

Claims that the San Francisco Chamber Did Right in Its Withdrawal

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov 21.—The Chronicle [illegible] report [illegible] last [illegible] in withdrawing from the Pacific Coast Chamber of Commerce, commenting editorially to-day, this paper says: In withdrawing from the Pacific Coast Chamber of Commerce before becoming committed to the scheme, the Chamber of Commerce of this city was entirely right. It seems apparent that the interests of the city would be subrogated to the interests of every other part of the state, and indeed [illegible] the whole coast, and that San Francisco will be legislated for, not by its own representatives, but by strangers. Interesting to Widows

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov 21.—An opinion was filed in the supreme court to-day in the case of the estate of Robert Gilmore, affirming the principle that a husband has no testamentary control over his wife's half of a community estate. The deceased by will bequeathed to his widow one half of all his property and the remaining half to his children and grandchildren. The entire property was community property or property acquired after the marriage. The widow contested the will, holding that she was entitled to three-fourths of the property, one half being her portion of the community property allowed by law and half of the remainder allowed by the will. The children contended that she was entitled to one half of all the property. The court decided in favor of the widow.

The Government Receiving Popular Support—The Delegates to the United States Authorized to Continue to Act

LONDON, Nov 21.—It is [illegible] current in [illegible] quarters that Dom Pedro of Brazil was himself the prime mover in his own deposition. He had endeavored to resist his son-in-law's [illegible] hostility to the anti-clerical party, and had other reasons to be dissatisfied with him. Then [illegible] more. Hence his easy and calm acceptance of the situation.

RECEIVING POPULAR SUPPORT.

WASHINGTON, Nov 21.—Dr. Valento, minister from Brazil, called on the state department to-day and informed the secretary that his latest advices from Brazil were to the effect that peace reigned and that the new government was receiving the support of the people. THE INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS.

A Resolution Welcoming the Republic of Brazil Tabled After Discussion

WASHINGTON, Nov 21.—Secretary Blaine called the international American conference to order this afternoon and immediately surrendered the chair to Dr. Guzman, the delegate from Nicaragua.

Dr. Valento, the Brazilian minister, arose and said that the Brazilian delegates had been prevented from occupying their seats at the preceding sessions for reasons which must have been apparent to the other delegates. They were now, however, ready to lay before the president their credentials that they might be acted upon in due course. The announcement was greeted with loud applause.

Delegate Henderson of the United States immediately offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the congress welcomes the United States of Brazil into the sisterhood of American republics.

Some debate as to the propriety of the congress taking such action followed. The resolution was finally tabled.

After the introduction of the resolution Delegate Hortado of Colombia moved that the resolution be tabled, as it was not proper for the delegates to recognize the new government in the absence of instructions from their own governments. This was seconded by several of the delegates.

Mr. Henderson said that he was sorry to place any of the representatives in an awkward position, but as far as he was concerned he should hail with equal pleasure the announcement that Spain or England or any other monarchy had adopted republican institutions. If this great change had been accomplished in Brazil without bloodshed, why wait for the announcement that the republic had been formally recognized by other governments?

The Chilian delegate agreed with Henderson's ideas generally, but felt constrained to postpone the matter out of regard for the official character of some of the delegates. Henderson's resolution was then tabled, only Venezuela and Uruguay voting in the negative.

The consideration of the rules was not completed at the adjournment.

AGAINST THE LAND LEAGUE

Sir Henry James Continues His Fight for the London "Times"

LONDON, Nov 21.—The argument by Sir Henry James was continued to-day. In referring to the moonlighters in Ireland, he said that they acted more like burglars than like police of the league. Their actions were not reproved by the leaders of the league. It was not until February, 1881, until the Parnellite members of the house were supporting the government, that the leaders of the league refused to grant money to certain districts owing to outrages having been committed there in. Sir Henry referred to the murder of Holyeman, Brett by Allman, Gould and Larkin near Manchester in 1867, and said that the murderers had been held up as heroes worthy of emulation. Davitt himself had unveiled the monument to their memory, and there was ample evidence that the example of these murderers had been lauded as worthy of being followed.

FURTHER ADVICES FROM STANLEY

He Is Expected to Reach Zanzibar in Four or Five Days

LONDON, Nov 21.—Mackinnon, the head of the Emin Pasha relief committee, has received a cable from Henry M. Stanley announcing his arrival at Mpwapa and stating that he expected to reach Zanzibar in four or five days.

The British consul at Zanzibar telegraphs to the foreign office: "Stanley arrived at Mpwapwa on the fifty-fifth day after his departure from Victoria Nyanza, and the one hundred and eighty-eighth day after leaving Albert Nyanza. Stanley left Mpwapwa on the 12th, heading toward the coast by way of Kemba and Mwami. Stanley has made an unexpected discovery of real value in finding an extension of Victoria Nyanza toward the southwest, which brings it within [illegible] miles of Lake Tanganyika. The area of the extension is 2,000 miles."

Stanley has with him [illegible] persons, of whom [illegible]90 are Emin's followers. Stanley lost only eight men during the march from Victoria Nyanza. He had four days of fighting near Usukuma.

Stanley, in a letter to the British consul at Zanzibar, tells the hard time the expedition has had and how many of the people have died of [illegible]. South of Victoria Nyanza there was continuous fighting for four days. The natives took an unaccountable prejudice against Emin, the people insisting they were cannibals. Talking was useless as any attempt to disprove their assertions only drove them into the heat of rage and in madness they flung themselves upon Stanley's forces and suffered severe losses.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The stock market was a traders' market to-day, and the business done showed considerable falling off from that of the past few days, while the temper of the dealings was alternately strong and weak, within narrow limits, and the final changes, while generally in the direction of lower figures, are for small fractions only. The only important declines are sugar 1½ and Chicago gas 1½.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—Produce receipts past twenty-four hours include 1 1 [illegible] ctls wheat, [illegible] qr sks flour, 500 ctls oats, [illegible] sks potatoes, [illegible] ctls barley.

Freights and charter.—The freight market for the past week has ruled dull and [illegible], but with a slightly firmer tendency at the close owing to the steadier tone of foreign wheat markets. The demand for grain tonnage has been light and but few charters effected. Disengaged tonnage in port, suitable for grain loading, comprises [illegible] tons, of which [illegible] tons are wood and [illegible] tons are iron.

There has been rather less demand for lumber vessels, and only two charters have been reported.

Coal carriers are in good demand and freights firm.

Charters for the past week have been as follows: Brig [illegible], lumber, Puget sound to Australia; ship Louis Walsh, coal, Tacoma to San Francisco; bk General Butler, coal, to San Pedro; Br ship [illegible], iron, [illegible] tons, reel artered spot for wheat to U K Havre or Antwerp at [illegible]; ship Louis coal, Tacoma to San Francisco; Br bk Duke of Argyle, lumber, Puget sound to Australia; ship Cyrus Wakefield, [illegible] tons wheat to U K Havre or Antwerp [illegible]; ship [illegible], [illegible] tons barley to U K at [illegible]; Ger bk [illegible], [illegible] tons wheat to U K Havre or Antwerp at 33s 9d.

Wheat—Spot trading the past week has been fairly active, buyers and sellers being apart in their views as to values. The foreign market has firmed-up with a slightly better demand and quotations for prompte shipment are quoted at 3d per quarter higher. This advance however has had no effect on local prices, the improvement being to the advantage of tonnage in port, which is of limited quantity and held for higher rates. Shippers apparently have cargoes on hand for vessels on the berth, the present demand being merely to provide for future wants. Offerings have been in small lots, holders as a rule holding for higher prices. [illegible] shipping sold at $1 [illegible]. Milling quality [illegible] buyers finding it difficult to obtain round parcels under $1 [illegible]. [illegible] foreign markets have a better tone, causing a steadier feeling here. Options ruled generally call, the feeling among operators was firm, and prices weakened on day to day lower [illegible] losing @1½c [illegible].

Wheat — [illegible] higher, buyer season [illegible] close $1 [illegible] per cental.

Barley—Spot [illegible] receipts are limited [illegible] with receipts [illegible] have had a [illegible] market [illegible] which rules dull [illegible] supply [illegible] prevalent [illegible] brewing and [illegible] were the only [illegible] brewing [illegible] for the [illegible] barley for New York [illegible] stocks on hand [illegible] Chevalier [illegible].

Options—Light speculative business [illegible].

Oats—The oat market has been better sustained than other cereals. Receipts from Washington have been very light and [illegible] expectations. These large [illegible] have depressed the market [illegible] under tone [illegible] not come up to [illegible] feed steady at $1 [illegible] No. 1 [illegible] $1 [illegible] milling [illegible]. Surprise firm [illegible]. Rolled oats—The demand [illegible] amount [illegible] volume [illegible] satisfactory [illegible] per ton until [illegible] ton closing [illegible] meeting [illegible] for a [illegible] decline of [illegible] quotations.

Hops—Local [illegible] ever manifest the same indifference [illegible] the only demand coming from brewers who purchase from [illegible] on their own terms. Advices from other markets show a slightly improved tone [illegible] any material alteration. Prices Quote [illegible] 18c per lb.

Potatoes—Consignments to this market are liberal, and, as usual, consist largely of poor and in ferior stock. The demand for choice is steady while lower grades are slow of sale. Choice Burbanks sold as high as $1 [illegible] @1 [illegible] early in the week, but prices dropped to $1 10@1 20 to-day owing to larger offerings and increased selling pressure. Early Rose 60@[illegible]c. Early Ro[se] 40@65c.

Wool—The demand for scouring purposes continues active and a good business for this account was done during the week. Scourers have large engagements to meet and are running on extra time. A fair shipping trade is also noted in clean wools for the Eastern markets. Prices range at [illegible] for Oregon valley and 12@1[illegible] for Eastern Oregon.

Bags—Quoted 6½c spot, [illegible] to [illegible] for June-July delivery.

FOR DYSPEPSIA

Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

Dr. LORENZO WAITE, Pittsfield, Mass., says: "From its use for a period of about eight weeks to the exclusion of all other remedies I attribute the restoration to health of a patient who was emaciated to the last degree in consequence of nervous prostration and dyspepsia. This patient's stomach was in such an irritable condition that it could not bear either liquid or solid food. An accomplished physician of many years' experience, whom I called in consultation, pronounced it a case of incurable one. At this stage I commenced to use Horsford's Acid Phosphate, which resulted as above mentioned."

SALESMAN—Yes, this is the stove you inquired for. As you say, it does not look exactly like the one your mother recommended you to buy and which she thinks so much of, but it is a Charter Oak Range. We have the Cook Stoves of the same make and those are more generally now as they are more convenient. How long has your mother had her stove?

YOUNG MARRIED LADY—Oh! ever so long. She bought it when I was a baby, and has been using it ever since, and she told me I must get the same kind.

SALESMAN—Well, this is the same kind. That is, it is a Charter Oak, but you must remember that twenty years is a long time and improvements have been made since your mother got hers. This Range has the wonderful Wire Gauze Oven Door, which you have probably heard of as it is known and sold everywhere in connection with our Stoves and Ranges.

YOUNG MARRIED LADY—Oh! I remember now. She spoke about that, but I can understand why that should make it so much better than our old stove, as that was as good as it could be.

SALESMAN—There is no doubt about its being much better, it is a wonderful improvement. It bakes everything so much nicer, and the meats are not dried up like they are in the old fashioned tight ovens. Why, a steak can be broiled in that oven as perfectly as over a charcoal fire, and the natural juices of the meat, which make it so appetizing, will all be retained. It is just the same with roast meats. Of course it is needless for me to speak of its other good qualities, as your mother's advice has made that unnecessary.

YOUNG MARRIED LADY—Well, of course, I will take it. Please have it put up as soon as you can, as we have no stove yet. We are just commencing housekeeping, you know.

GERMAN

Invigorator

THE OLDEST, GREATEST AND BEST REMEDY for the cure of Nervous and Physical Debility, Vital Exhaustion, Seminal Weakness, Loss of Manhood, Failing Memory, and Relaxed and Enfeebled Condition of the Genito-Urinary Organs.

It speedily cures Impotence, Early Decay, Loss of Vigor, SEMINAL WEAKNESS and all the real effects of youthful follies and abuse or EXCESSES OF MATURITY.

It permanently prevents all unnatural losses from the system, as thousands can attest who have used the Remedy in the past quarter of a century, which it has been before the public.

It is indeed a wonderful remedy—toning the nerves, strengthening the muscles, checking the waste, invigorating the whole system and restoring the afflicted to HEALTH and HAPPINESS.

The reason so many cannot be cured of Weakness and the above diseases is owing to complication called PROSTATORRHEA with Hyperesthesia, which requires special treatment.

DR. LIEBIG'S INVIGORATOR No. 2, with its peculiar special treatment, is the only possible cure for PROSTATORRHEA. By it MANHOOD is restored and the hand of time moved back from age to youth.

Price of either Invigorator $2. Case of 6 bottles, $10. Sent to any address, covered securely from observation.

Dr. Liebig & Co. treat successfully by Homeopathy every form of SPECIAL, PRIVATE and CHRONIC DISEASES without mercury or nauseous drugs. If vitality is drained from the body, numerous diseases follow that baffle ordinary medical treatment. If allowed to continue, the unnatural loss causes Consumption, Diabetes, Bright's Disease, Insanity, etc. Cures guaranteed. Diseases of the Genito-Urinary organs, kidneys, liver and bladder specially treated. DISEASES OF WOMEN SPEEDILY CURED.

Qualified and Responsible.—Dr. Liebig & Co. from Europe are regular college educated physicians and are now in their nineteenth year of special practice.

If pimples appear on the face and body, if you become listless and easily tired and exhausted, look out for the complication with Seminal Weakness discovered at the LIEBIG DISPENSARY, known as Prostatorrhea. DR. LIEBIG'S INVIGORATOR No. 2 is the only known remedy for the above complication, Prostatorrhea.

The farmers of Lane county have 28,000 bushels of wheat stored at their warehouse at Eugene awaiting an advance in price.

J M Hill is being unanimously indorsed by the people of Whitman county for the office of United States marshal for the state of Washington.

The estimated expense of running the new state of Washington for the ensuing year is $[illegible] and the tax levy will bring in only $312,000.

The town of Florence, on the Siuslaw river, will have a newspaper in a few weeks. The press was taken in on the last trip of the steamer [illegible].

Puyallup is the site for the largest slaughter house and refrigerator on the coast, which will be built at once. The capital stock is $[illegible]00,000.

The Linn county grange has passed resolutions against the non-taxation of city bonds, also against lawyers and bankers being sent to the legislature.

The Western Union telegraph office at Pocatello is filled by a lady operator. Gum has been substituted for tobacco, says the Idaho Republican, in noting the change.

Noting the fact that a newspaper man in Alaska saw the mirage of the silent city, the Columbia Chronicle says that the fine hotel of Walla Walla belongs to the same class.

The city council of Farmington has decided to have the drill sent down a few feet further, and then if artesian water is not struck the city will be out $600 and no protection against fire.

From three and one half acres of hops a farmer in Polk county cleared a net profit of $400. He sold at 12½ cents a pound. The ruling price is 8 cents at present, but even at this low figure hops are more remunerative than wheat.

The Upper Willamette has risen about two feet under the influence of the recent extensive rains, and steamboat men greatly appreciate the added facility to navigation. Large quantities of hops are being brought down from the valley towns.

The Nelson placer mine, seven miles west of Baker City, is one of the richest placers on the Pacific coast, and was sold for about $300,000 about a year ago. The final clean up this summer was the finest ever made. It was worked by hydraulicing.

The four walkers, Faulkner, Howith, Clarke and Morgan, walked out of The Dalles leaving several bills unpaid. Their performance is a very monotonous affair, and the Times-Mountaineer warns up country people to make them pay in advance.

The Snake river country is destined to become a great fruit growing section in the near future. The quality of the fruit is well known, and the quantity can be testified to by L M Ringer of Almota, who has trees that have borne their second crop of apples this season.

The late rains in Idaho have started the grass in splendid shape, and with two weeks more of this mild weather settlemen will be supremely happy. Even with the present growth the grass will enable many an old cow to pull through the winter without a mouthful of hay.

Mark A Kelton, who fills a drunkard's grave in Lake View, as noticed a few days ago, was a brother of ex-Assistant Adjutant General Kelton of the United States army, and formerly practiced law in Virginia City, Nev, where on leaving there about eight years ago he left many warm friends.

As an illustration of the enterprise of the citizens of Spokane Falls, $50,000 was contributed by members of the congregation during last Sunday morning's service, and in the evening $27,650, making a total of $77,650. This was a good Sunday's work for the endowment of a Methodist college in that city.

Walla Walla has a printer who would do well to emigrate to a distant land. A few days ago the editor of the Statesman was made to publish this startling statement: "W O Bush, member of the legislature from Thurston county, has been forty five years in the penitentiary." Mr Bush has been in the territory for forty five years and was never in prison at all.

The money appropriated by the regents of the state university at their meeting last June, for the purpose of erecting and fitting up a gymnasium hall in connection with the university, has been expended on the building, and nothing is left with which to furnish the rooms. No more can be obtained until the regents meet again, which will probably not be until next June.

Charles Williams, the alleged mail robber, has been arrested at Long Creek. Williams is a brother of Tom Williams, recently discharged from the penitentiary, where he served his time for the attempted killing of "Peter the Poet," editor of the Long Creek Eagle. The Baker City Democrat says that a very positive case has been made out against Williams, and his conviction is deemed certain.

Something curious happened in Kent's meat market at Walla Walla the other day, which seems unexplainable, says the Walla Walla Union. The butcher while cutting a hog in two had his knife strike some hard substance, and on examination found that the knife had struck a ten cent piece, which was firmly imbedded in the backbone. How the coin got into such a place is somewhat of a conundrum.

Papers throughout the state are already beginning to talk of a candidate for congress at the June election. Binger Hermann, the present incumbent, is favorably spoken of, and there appears to be no opposition of force against his renomination. The Heppner Gazette, Eastern Oregon, is in favor of Mr Hermann, provided the east fails to produce a good candidate from that section. Hon W J Ellis of Morrow county is mentioned, as well as C C Beekman of Jackson.

Commenting on THE OREGONIAN'S editorial upon the existing spirit of old fogyism, the Salem Statesman says: "It used to be that way in Salem, and that is what kept the capital city back so long, but the old [illegible] has about died out, and now the whole of Salem is practically pulling together for the city's advancement. And everybody feels better over it, makes more money and more friends, and will never again be [illegible] to depart from this hustling stage of action."

Major C A Manning of Post Falls tells the Spokane Review that so-called hunters have been slaughtering deer in great numbers in the region along the Coeur d'Alene by means of dogs, which they employ to run the deer to the lake, where they fall easy victims to the merciless rifle of the pot hunters. A party passed through Post Falls last week with fifty six deer, which had been secured in this manner, at least a dozen hounds having been employed in the work. People living in that neighborhood do not approve of this style of sportsmanship, and propose to put a stop to it in order to prevent the total extermination of deer, which are now plentiful, and will remain so if only fair means are employed to kill them. In order to stop the practice of hunting with dogs the settlers have killed several canines so employed, and hereafter will kill every dog taken in here for that purpose.

"Never in the history of Idaho," said [illegible] thirty odd newspapers [illegible], "has the inauguration of so many new enterprises as they have this year. The preliminary steps have been taken to start irrigating schemes that will cost millions. In every county they are building up the mining camps as fast as machinery can be freighted to the mines. New mining camps are springing up in many sections that give promise of far surpassing any of the older camps. General prosperity dawns all over the territory, and we confidently expect to see Idaho the Mecca of much of next year's western emigration."

V C Bogue, chief engineer of the Union Pacific railroad, was in Tacoma yesterday. He ran the gauntlet of a Globe reporter in good style. He declined to talk about his business in this section of the country, and when asked what he knew of the Union Pacific's intention to either build to Tacoma or come in over the Northern Pacific tracks, he said he knew nothing about it. He said he had not been in Omaha for several weeks and had talked with none of the officers about the subject. In fact he displayed the railway official's customary disinclination to talk any way. Mr Bogue did say that he was going up to Spokane Falls, thence to the Coeur d'Alene river, and thence to Butte and Anaconda. Mr Bogue had been interrupted in the preparation of his toilet, although he insisted he was not disturbed, and he abruptly left to complete it.

[illegible] STEINBACH'S

HAVE YOU PURCHASED YOUR FALL SUIT OR OVERCOAT?

If you have not, is it not time you were giving your attention to a matter that is so important? It may not be a great outlay of money, but as it will be something you'll wear all this winter, and maybe next, it's worth a little study.

It's not a very hard matter to decide on how much you may wish or can afford to pay for a Suit or Overcoat. Unfortunately for some of us, it's a question of what we can afford, while with our next door neighbor it's only a matter of how much he chooses to pay.

The expense matter being decided the next question is, "Where shall I go to buy my clothing?" This is purely a matter of choice. We think that we can make it of mutual benefit to yourself and us to buy your Clothing here.

We are very particular in our buying, realizing that "a garment well bought is half sold." Low, medium or high-priced clothing, we buy only of the best manufacturers. We cannot afford to sell Clothing made for show. The customer of to-day we expect to sell Clothing for the next 25 years, and can only do so by selling him goods on honor.

Our business in Portland has grown to immense proportions, so much so that with our increased trade we can afford to sell goods at a very small profit. Our entire fall stock is marked accordingly.

Underwear.

You'll need Winter Underwear, Hosiery, Gloves, Shirts, new Neckwear, etc. We're doing the trade of the town in this line, and if you're not already a customer of this department, come in, look it over, and you will be. New goods at lowest prices

PORTLAND FRIDAY NOV. 22

WILL NOT UNDERSTAND

The democratic editor of Oregon still refuses to understand the tariff question in its present aspects. It is not probable that he is incapable of understanding it but the fact seems to be that he is perverse because the stress of party action requires him to be so.

Last year when the democratic tariff scheme was broached the people of Oregon were not slow to see that it proposed to give a great advantage to the East at the expense of the West. It was a tariff made for the New England manufacturers with baits to the Southern planter to keep him from flying from the party lines. It was most unfair and unjust to the North and West and to the fact that Oregon saw this was due the majority with which she opened the campaign of 1888 as with a clap of thunder.

Still the democratic editor of Oregon doesn't see or professes not to see. Here is the democratic paper of Albany maundering as usual on the tariff without the slightest apparent perception or comprehension of the present aspects of the question. It quotes THE OREGONIAN as saying that the Eastern manufacturer has been enriched by protection says this is a correct statement and declares that democrats have for years been contending that the arrangement of the tariff was for the benefit of manufacturers and not for the people at large.'

Now the democratic tariff scheme, that of Cleveland Carlisle Mills & Co is a scheme expressly and avowedly devised for the further protection and enrichment of manufacturers. Mr Mills went down into New England and explained in public speeches that by taking away protection from the producers of materials as proposed by the democratic tariff bill the manufacturers of that section would be able to make more money than heretofore and he thought this fact ought to induce the manufacturers to vote the democratic ticket which large numbers of them did.

The plain issue between the two parties in the last election was whether the duties on materials were to be abolished for the benefit of manufacturers. This is the plain issue to-day. Is protection to be taken away from the vast body of the producers of the country, from the people at large for the purpose of enabling manufacturers to increase their gains? Coming to the wool industry for specific illustration the question is whether the important business of wool growing in this country is to be crippled for the benefit of manufacturers. The democratic party is on the affirmative side of this question and yet the party editors in Oregon are so stupid as not to know what made the unprecedented republican majority in the state last year.

How many times should it be necessary to explain for the enlightenment of the democratic editors of Oregon, that the present issue on the tariff is whether the manufacturers, by getting free raw materials shall have more protection than they have now and whether the producers of materials are to be deprived of their share of protection for the further profit and enrichment of manufacturers? This is the democratic proposition and to it the people of the producing states last year gave a decided answer in the negative. It is highly probable they will do the same again and again as often as may be necessary.

NO SEX IN THE HEALING ART

The women physicians of this city ask permission to form an association that shall be recognized as auxiliary to the Board of Charities, which will provide for women suffering from structural diseases such medical and surgical attendance by physicians of their own sex as their condition requires and an apartment suitable for carrying out this work with such plain furnishings as are necessary. If the applicants are professionally competent for the trust there is no reason why their request should not be granted, if they are competent there are many obvious reasons why their petition should prevail.

It ought to go without saying that there is no more sex in medicine and surgery than there is in art. The woman who can prove her anatomical and physiological knowledge, her surgical skill and her reputation ought to be treated as liberally as any male physician. When Maria Mitchell successfully studied the stars she was an astronomer not a woman to the Danish king that gave her scientific honors and so with any respectable art or employment a woman has a right to say 'The tools of this art are rightfully mine not because I am a woman but because I have proved my mastery of this art or employment.'

In New York city, every year two score or more of young women are graduated from the Woman's Medical College, and the New York Medical College and Hospital for Women. In addition most of the large dispensaries and very many of the college clinics are open to woman students. The course of study is precisely similar to that laid down by the male colleges, and from four to six hours every day during the first six months must be spent in the dissecting room.

A MODIFIED POSITION

The order of the Knights of Labor has it appears learned wisdom through sharp experience. Though approving through the action of its general assembly the eight hour principle it decrees that no general strike shall be ordered to support this demand next May as was expected but that the movement be confined to such trades as are in condition to put the plan in operation. The organization further pledges its moral support to the movement in favor of such trade or trades as are prepared to successfully inaugurate the eight hour movement on the 1st of May 1890.

When a labor organization gets down to this basis there is some hope that it may in due course of time accomplish reasonable plans looking to the welfare of the laboring class. The difference between the attitude indicated by these resolutions and the belligerent demand stand taken by this organization several years ago is so great that but for the name of the order and those of a few of its leaders the public would not be able to recognize it. These leaders have evidently learned that the employing power of the world is not to be forced by the labor force into measures that it deems detrimental to its true business interests. This power has too strong an auxiliary in the necessities of laboring men to be compelled to hold up its hands on demand, and turn its business over to a noisy besieging force for the sake of peace.

If enforcement of the eight-hour plan is restricted to such trades as are in condition to put it in successful operation the working of the plan will cause no hardship or confusion to business since such condition (if it is real and not the idle boast of the professional agitator) presupposes an equalization of supply and demand and forestalls confusion through the change proposed.

The success of the eight hour plan does not depend entirely upon the determined attitude of the craftsmen who make the demand. The requirements of the business upon which this demand is made is a factor at least equally potent and the two combined constitute the condition to which reference is made in the modified order of the general assembly of the Knights of Labor relative to the eight hour movement.

As to the moral support of the organization which it so cheerfully pledged to trades that feel strong enough, or in the words of the resolution quoted are in condition to put the plan in operation strikers are pretty generally aware through sad experience, that this sort of support does not supply the place of the wages lost in obeying an order to quit work. Whenever the condition of tradesmen is such that they can live without work it will justify a dependence upon the moral support of a great labor organization in a war with capital. When this becomes the general condition of working men the eight hour plan will become so quietly and universally successful that employers will forget the arguments that the necessities of great industries have urged against it and quietly submit to the inevitable in yielding to its demands. Until such time, however it will be the part of prudence for working men to feel their way cautiously in the direction of the eight-hour movement, and not be in haste to order strikes to support it.

THE DAY OF JUDGMENT

The republican party of Iowa has brought itself into a most uncomfortable position. By adoption of prohibition it has come to the very door of defeat. There is a democratic governor the first in thirty five years. It is apparent too that further support of prohibition by the republican party will turn the state over wholly to the democrats. It is admitted by men of judgment in politics that the thing to do is to give up prohibition and adopt a high license system. To this complexion it will come at last whether the prohibitionists are willing or not. It would be the part of good sense therefore to accept the inevitable at once.

But here an angry protest from the extreme prohibitionists is sounded in the ear of the republican party. They declare that if the republican party does not stand up to prohibition they will withdraw from that party en masse set up a prohibition party and continue the fight on that line.

Perhaps for a time they will. But inasmuch as prohibition in Iowa is certainly doomed even the most extreme prohibitionists will in course of time find it out and ultimately will cease to contend for what is unattainable and hopeless.

There are some very great dangers and others greater still. One would try to shun a bear as King Lear remarks but if one's flight lay toward the roaring sea he would meet the bear in the mouth. In Iowa the prohibition bear is in front of the republican party, the roaring sea is behind it and republican journals and party leaders seem to be making up their minds that it would be better to meet the bear and have it out with him.

The Cedar Rapids Republican which has always hitherto been a strenuous advocate of prohibition now virtually admits that the republican party is powerless to carry prohibition further. It says:

> The question arises With a mere shell of a republican majority in the next senate and no majority whatever in the house and with several republican senators committed to prohibition only so far as it embodies an ascertained preference of a majority of the voters of the state can we if we try, prevent the repeal of the present prohibitory law? Ought we to try, in face of the insistent demand of the cities and in face of the difficulties in the way of enforcement in those cities that emphatically condemn the law?

The conclusion is reached that the cities should be allowed to decide whether sale of liquors shall be licensed within their limits or not. The Keokuk Gate City is positive in the statement that some action must be taken. It says that the usefulness of the law for many counties of the state is at present exhausted 'and that there is no sense in keeping on straining yourself trying to put on a pair of shoes that don't fit your foot.' Further it says:

> The legislature is close. We shall be perfectly willing to see some republican members of the legislature accept a high license law and make these democratic members fish or cut bait. Nothing is final, and the temperance evolution will go on whether the method is this or that. We don't see any harm that can come from republicans in the legislature forcing the democratic hand. Any republican member of the legislature can feel that in doing this he is putting himself in accord with the largest body of republicanism in the nation. For in nearly every state the republican is the party of high license.

The Spirit Lake Beacon one of the strong advocates of prohibition says:

> Prohibition is now in extreme peril. It is altogether probable that with the aid of three or four republicans the democratic members of the legislature will wipe out our prohibitory statute early in the approaching session. If this is not done it is pretty safe to say that the republicans will refer the issue of prohibition back to the people in the form of a proposition to amend the constitution. Evident as it is that the republicans are driven out of power in Iowa because of their devotion to this principle it is well to shift the responsibility upon the people who declared in 1882 by a large majority, that they wanted prohibition.

The Sioux City Journal thinks the legislature will repeal the law and provide for high license. Whether it does or not the Journal does not see that the republicans should continue to uphold prohibition. It says:

> But suppose the legislature of this winter shall not repeal the prohibitory law. The defeat of the republican party before the people of the state on this issue against which the party had contended for its life for fifteen years would remain. With the law unrepealed say the prohibition sentiment might still control the party position. What then? The republicans who sided with the democrats this year would side with the democrats next year and more would follow. The republican party simply as a St John party could not hope to come within gunshot of carrying the state. There has never been a time in the history of the past when it could.
>
> The republican party respects the will of the people of this state. That respect has been the cornerstone of defense on the prohibition issue. The people of Iowa have changed.
>
> The republican party is left in an uncomfortable situation.
>
> The question is Is the republican party equal to the emergency?

All this comes of not having proper judgment and proper courage in the first place. But whatever the fate of the republican party in Iowa it is evident that prohibition in Iowa is doomed.

GOVERNMENT BY LEGISLATIVE COMMISSION

Governor Thomas of Utah says in his message that Mormonism is as strong as ever, that the accessions during the last nine years by foreign immigration alone have aggregated 16,000 while the gain from other sources has amounted to 70 000. An increase of 86 000, or over 100 per cent since 1880 does not indicate a decaying tendency. Mormon thrift and capital have absorbed about all the available land and water of the territory. Any temporizing policy says Governor Thomas which leaves the church in a position to control the political policy of the territory is only delaying the final settlement. There can be no substantial progress in the work of destroying the evils of Mormonism he insists so long as the priesthood is permitted to dictate the results of elections and to shape the general course of local politics. Future legislation he urges should be aimed at the political power of the church which has been the main pillar of its strength in Utah.

The best way to govern Utah would be to adopt the plan of Governor Murray who in 1884 said that the only way to bring quiet and order out of unrest and nullification in Utah would be to abolish the legislature and substitute a legislative council of twelve members appointed by the president just as we did in the case of the District of Columbia. Governor Murray cited as a precedent the government of the Northwest territory in 1787 and subsequently that enacted for the territory of Louisiana as follows Section 5 of the ordinance of 1787 provided that the governor and judges or a majority of them should adopt and publish in the district such laws of the original states criminal and civil as may be best suited to the circumstances etc. Section 4 of an act of congress erecting Louisiana into two territories and providing for the temporary government thereof enacted as follows:

> The legislative power shall be vested in the governor and in thirteen of the most fit and discreet persons of the territory to be called the legislative council who shall be appointed annually by the president of the United States from among those holding real estate therein and who shall have resided one year, at least in the said territory and hold no office of profit under the United States. See Vol 2 U S Statutes at Large.

A GREAT SWINDLE

The Louisiana lottery which is correctly denounced by Anthony Comstock as a national scourge sells a great many tickets in Portland and sells them chiefly to working men. By political intrigue this swindle has secured a quasi lease of existence for twenty five years from 1868 under a charter granted by the general assembly of Louisiana and by the same body repealed March 1879. Nevertheless the Louisiana lottery lives to day by a clause inserted in the amended or new constitution of the state adopted December 1879. Every state but two in the Union and all of the territories have laws against lotteries while twenty seven states have in addition thereto constitutional enactments prohibiting them. The congress of the United States has passed laws forbidding all letters and circulars concerning lotteries to pass through the mails. Nevertheless this lottery company has spread itself over the whole country by open and defiant use of the United States mails. Originally the tickets were but $2 each for single drawings which are had ten months in each year and $5 per ticket for the extraordinary drawings for the other two months of the year but the company have gradually increased the price of tickets until now they charge $20 for a ticket in the ordinary drawings and $40 for a ticket in the two extraordinary drawings. They have had twelve drawings per year each year since they started. One hundred thousand tickets are supposed to be sold every month and the company boasts that every ticket is sold for each drawing. Assuming the truth of this boast here are the figures under the old and the new rates:

100 000 tickets sold 10 months each year at 2 each	$2 000 000
100 000 tickets sold 2 months each year at 5 each	1 000 000
Total receipts under the old rates	$3 000 000

Now compare this with the present rates:

100 000 tickets sold 10 months in the year at $20 each	$20 000 000
100 000 tickets sold 2 months in the year at $40 each	8 000 000
Total receipts under present management	$28 000 000

The lease of life to this lottery is now drawing to a close ending by statute limitation in 1893 and now the managers have offered to give the city of New Orleans a public library building to cost not less than $[illegible]00 000 and pay the debt of the state of Louisiana amounting to over $12 000 000 in addition thereto provided its charter be extended for a period of fifty years.

That lotteries are contrary to public policy is the opinion of the English speaking civilized world. On this point the history of English public opinion is worthy of recital.

As early as 1699 lotteries were denounced as cheats in England and their agents as pillagers of the people and in October 1826 were forbidden by the government as prejudicial to public morals by fostering among the people a propensity for gambling. The supreme court of the United States in May, 1880 declared as follows:

> That lotteries are demoralizing in their effects no matter how carefully regulated cannot in the opinion of this court be doubted. There is now scarcely a state in the Union where they are tolerated and congress has enacted a special statute the object of which is to close the mails against them. They are a species of gambling and wrong in their influence. They disturb the checks and balances of a well ordered community. Society built on such foundation would almost of necessity bring forth a population of speculators and gamblers living on the expectation of what chance might award them from the accumulations of others.

Judge Catron of Tennessee in the case of the State vs Smith and Lane says concerning lotteries 'The presumption of law is that every man has acquired his property honestly and it is the policy of every well regulated government that he shall not be deprived of it without a fair equivalent.' Judge Catron proceeds:

> Lotteries are more extensive in their consequences and at least equally pernicious with gaming at cards, in corrupting the morals prostrating the industrious and steady habits and wasting the property and that, too of a credulous portion of the community little inclined to gamble otherwise. * * * Lotteries are gambling and odious gambling. To talk of honesty and fair dealing in such transactions would be worse than idle.

The Louisiana lottery as part of the homage that vice offers to virtue pays $40 000 annually to the charity hospital of New Orleans and in its charter has the impudence to say that the lottery is for educational and charitable purposes but this sum of $40 000 is all that is given to education or charity. The balance of the $28 000 000 goes to the management of the lottery. The charter reads as follows:

> That whereas many millions of dollars have been withdrawn from and lost to this state by the sale of Havana Kentucky and Madrid and other lottery tickets policies combinations and devices and fractional parts thereof it shall hereafter be unlawful to sell offer or expose for sale any of them or any other lottery or policy or combination ticket or tickets devices or certificates or fractional parts thereof except in such manner and by such persons their heirs executors assigns as shall be hereinafter authorized.

In other words since the people of Louisiana have hitherto been impoverished and plundered by a foreign lottery they are afforded a legal opportunity to be impoverished and plundered by a lottery of domestic birth.

The Louisiana legislature at first denounced this impudent proposition to sell $28 000 000 of lottery tickets a year for educational and charitable purposes as a subterfuge and a lie but bribery and political intrigue finally procured the enactment of this great swindle which has wound its way like a snake into every community in this nation. The drawing of this lottery is conducted under the eyes of two ex Confederate generals Beauregard and Early. There would seem to be a kind of propriety in hiring two soldiers who tried to destroy the government which had educated them and which they had sworn to support to preside over a great national swindle.

There is nothing that shows the wide distance between the average moral sense of the South and that of the North than the fact that no great public lottery scheme can live legally outside the South. Lotteries survive at the South just as other things characteristic of a civilization recently redeemed from slavery survive viz The Asiatic vendetta arbitration by the pistol repudiation of state and municipal debts barbarities of the chain gang and the blood and fraud burlesque of the ballot. We are not assuming that Northern civilization would be any better if it had for a century rested on slave rather than free labor but it is a matter of good fortune the black snake of slavery dropped from the neck of Northern civilization at an early day while it remained around the Southern throat to strangle its civilization. There is plenty of gambler's honor at the South but not so much everyday cold honesty and justice without regard to local or race prejudice as there is at the North. Therefore a dishonest public policy like that of lotteries and the dangerous destructive practice of private vengeance and lynch law live and flourish at the South when they are both moribund at the North.

Exaggerated stories of Mrs Parnell's poverty and officious statements relative to plans for her relief have received proper rebuke from John Fitzgerald the president of the National league. He declares that any measure looking to public relief for Mrs Parnell would be a slur upon the character of her distinguished son, and that her family can and will care for her wants without uncalled for public interference.' Some such statement as this would have been a credit to the son of General Logan or those of General Grant when public comment was busy with the financial stress to which their mothers were supposed to be reduced after or by the death of their honored fathers. No woman who has an able bodied son should be considered a fit subject for public or private charity. It is strange that because a woman who bears an honored name is poor it may be even unto poverty that the world feels justified in considering her a pauper and in treating her in a way that would cover with humiliation, the self respecting widow of a poor mechanic.

It does the taxpayer good to know that city prisoners, who generally at this season of the year are tramps and vagabonds, who seek the shelter of the jail and the bread and meat furnished, because the accommodations are far better than those to which they are accustomed outside are to work when the weather will permit on the City park. The measure is a doubtful one from a financial point of view however since it costs the city double the price that would have to be paid to sober honest laborers to oversee and guard the prisoners while employed. If the work could be made hard enough and the hours long enough and the fare plain enough to fill lazy vagabonds with a wholesome dread of the city jail it might be profitable in the long run to pay the salaries of the guards and driver but the short days and comparatively light work required forbid this. Hence the industrious taxpayer will have to fall back upon the principle involved and rejoice that the thriftless vagabonds are compelled to work, even if their labor is not profitable to the city.

Judging from the hilarity and general good will as expressed in telegrams every body in Washington is happy over the election of Squire and Allen to the United States senate. Still, there is a slight possibility—very slight of course—that there are a few people in the state who would that the result had been otherwise. Of course residents of thriving cities like Tacoma and Spokane Falls scorn to exhibit pique and scout the idea that they are disappointed but smaller towns that aspire to become busy centers of growing sections may feel aggrieved that some cherished candidate of their own was ruled out. All such however may find consolation in the fact that both terms to which these senators were elected are short terms and they will soon have another opportunity to work the senatorial wires.

PERSONS WORTH KNOWING ABOUT

Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett is slowly recovering from her recent accident. She is not yet able to see visitors.

Ex Governor Austin Blair of Michigan is at work on a book to be called The Recollections of a War Governor.

The Hon W F Wharton assistant secretary of state has so far recovered from his recent illness as to return to his home in Boston.

William Sprague was governor of Rhode Island and afterward United States senator. He is now living in poverty. He was once worth $10 000 000.

Thomas Brower Peacock, the poet of the prairies is a young man not yet 38 years old. He was born in Ohio and at an early age showed a taste for poetry. His Rhyme of the Border War has attracted much attention and won the admiration of Victor Hugo Oscar Wilde Matthew Arnold and other critics.

The Countess of Essex who died not long ago was the last survivor of several actresses who married members of the English nobility. Miss Mellon became the Duchess of St. Albans Miss Fenton the Duchess of Bolton Miss Farren the Countess of Derby etc. In more recent years no marriage of this kind has taken place.

Many doubt that Judge Cooley will regain his health sufficiently to resume his duties as chairman of the interstate commerce commission. Commissioner Morrison says he expects Judge Cooley to return to Washington from Michigan in about ten days but admits that the judge is quite feeble. Judge Cooley is 70 years old and has undoubtedly overworked himself of late.

John Brisben Walker the editor of the Cosmopolitan Magazine, has had a varied and interesting career although he is only [illegible] years old. Educated at West Point he entered the Chinese army through the recommendation of Anson G Burlingame minister to and from China. The bravery of the young officer raised him in a few years to the rank of general. Returning home he engaged in mining in West Virginia and married the daughter of General David Strother who is better known as Porte Crayon. He was afterward a ranchman then a editor.

George Eliot maintained a self respecting privacy during her life which has not been respected since her death. She never allowed herself to be interviewed. She refused to be photographed. It was said of Madam De Staël that she was consolingly ugly. This remark applied more truthfully to George Eliot, who was morbidly sensitive about her personal appearance. She rarely spoke of her works and never of herself. She was a most fascinating talker when in company of those she loved but in general society she did not shine.

SPIRIT OF THE NORTHWEST PRESS

A WELCOME TO SPOKANE

Spokane Review Spokane people will read with amusement the account of the presentation of a Winchester rifle to a Pennsylvania teacher who has made up his mind to cast his lot in this city. He will certainly come well prepared to teach the young idea how to shoot. Bless the hearts of those Pennsylvania high school pupils. How it would surprise them to see their beloved teacher land in Spokane Falls with his rifle slung across his shoulder a brace of pistols in his belt pantaloons tucked in his boots and inquire the way to the reservation. Of course some of his friends have presented him with a red flannel shirt and a sombrero. Dutch Jake ought to meet him at the depot and hire him as chief bouncer for his palatial establishment on Riverside avenue. But it will not take Mr Mendenhall long to catch on to our metropolitan ways and when the [illegible] has worn away he can exchange his rifle for a gold-headed cane and no doubt, will be [illegible] glad that he has moved to the city.

LOCATION OF THE HUNT ROAD

Wallula Herald Most railroads on the Pacific coast have their courses through old coulees or along [illegible] or small streams and the traveler can see but little, save the scrubby brush along the stream or rocks and sage brush. In this the Hunt road is an exception. Its course is along no river or through barren regions. The line leading to Pendleton passes through one of the richest wheat producing countries on the coast. On either side of the road as far as the eye can reach, rich fertile land can be seen. The line to Walla Walla and Waitsburg is through a country where the failure of crops is scarcely ever known. In this Mr Hunt displayed wisdom as the traveler much prefers the sight of green fields of grain and [illegible] to that of barrenness.

POLITICAL CONSPIRACY.

The Montana Democrats to Wreck the Ship of State

COMPLETE OBSTRUCTIVE POLICY

Party Pettiness Fitly Illustrated in the Control of the Keys to the Legislative Halls—Much Trouble Feared.

HELENA Mont Nov 21.—When Montana was a territory the secretary was the officer charged with renting and fitting up halls for the use of the legislature. Following this precedent Secretary Rotwitt applied to the county commissioners for rooms in the court house for the use of the first legislature of the state and being granted permission by the county board began fitting up the apartments used last winter by the sixteenth territorial legislature. It was naturally expected that the secretary would rent the legislative halls, but now the board of county commissioners have decided otherwise, and at their special session last Monday rented them to the governor. The following resolution taken from the minutes of the board for that day shows what action was taken on this subject:

> WHEREAS, Application has been made to this board for accommodation in the county court house for the use of the legislature for the ensuing session and
>
> WHEREAS We are informed by our counsel and legal advisers that there is no state officer who is now specifically instructed or entitled to contract of that nature for and in behalf of the state, now therefore in consideration of the premises be it
>
> Resolved, That we do hereby authorize our chairman Mr F W Knight, for and in our behalf, to enter into any preliminary contract with the Hon J K Toole governor of the state of Montana for the rental of such rooms as he may desire for the use of said legislature for the ensuing term rental and compensation to be fixed and adjusted by mutual consent or an agreement to be entered into by representatives of said legislative body after it shall have convened and properly authorized the same.
>
> F W KNIGHT
> E D EDGERTON
> A J B[illegible]
> Commissioners

It is immaterial of course who rents the legislative halls but under existing circumstances the fact that the democratic county board took pains to be informed by counsel and legal advisers on the subject and after such advice overturning all precedent to ignore a republican secretary and make a contract for that with the democratic governor looks suspicious, just at this time. Furthermore, when it is known that the democratic chairman of the county board this morning locked up the legislative halls and put the keys in his pockets an additional flavor of mystery is imparted to the singular transaction.

E F Hooper who was employed by Secretary Rotwitt to fix up the legislative halls and who has worked there up to to-day was fired by the democrats who have no use for republican employes of Mr Hooper's stripe. The halls are now guarded by a special corps of watchmen.

Their plans and movements have so far been successfully kept in the dark but the very secrecy of the work argues the deepness of the conspiracy and the character of the machination which have been hatching. It is now getting so close to the opening of the legislative session however that it is impossible for them any longer to conceal their plans and in the last few days an inkling of what is to come has leaked out. Knowing that the republicans have the legislature according to the only legal authority the state canvassing board, it is said they have a plan on foot to organize a legislature of their own by recognizing the worthless certificates of election issued by the county clerks including those precious documents issued by Clerk Booth of Silver Bow county to nine out of ten of the democratic candidates for the lower house. These county certificates give the democrats twenty nine members of the lower house, which is a quorum, while the state certificates gives them only twenty four. The plan is to meet and organize with republicans and then go off and hold a democratic session all by themselves or to absent themselves from the court house on Saturday and organize in a body at some other place. The law says that in the absence of the auditor the oldest member of the house shall call that body together and this provision will be taken advantage of should the latter plan be adopted. The course to be pursued will probably be determined upon at the caucus to be held to-morrow. Having thus disposed of the house it is intimated that all democratic members of the senate will be kept away from the senate chamber so as to prevent that body from organizing. It is well known that the senate is a tie politically being composed of eight republicans and eight democrats. Should either side fail to appear there would be no quorum but each side might meet and adjourn from day to day to separate places.

An obstructive programme of this sort is what democrats have favored. Latter day developments add another feature to the great scheme. At this moment the democrats have possession of the keys of the legislative halls which are locked so tight that even a newspaper reporter can't get in to see how they are fitted up without making a journey to the First National bank for the keys. By this taking possession of the hall, it seems that the democrats intend to hold the fort and let none pass in without the democratic countersign.

Gilbert A Pierce Formally Elected United States Senator in Joint Session.

BISMARCK Nov 21.—In joint session to-day Gilbert A Pierce was formally elected United States senator. He made a graceful speech of acceptance. As soon as the joint assembly dissolved the Johnson men in the house attempted to force a vote for the second senator, but the motion to adjourn prevailed. Johnson's strength is thought to be waning, and Ordway's is increasing.

RAIDED BY THE POLICE.

A Brutal Prize Fight Between Light Weights in Indiana.

CHICAGO Nov 21.—A vicious prize fight between the light weights Tommy Morgan and Tommy White took place this morning at Hammond Ind. Morgan has a record in the ring while White until he began training for to day's fight, was employed as blackboard boy in a stock broker's office. Morgan forced the fighting in the start but in the third round was pushed into his corner by White's hard work. In the fourth round Morgan made another rush and received a blow that drew a quantity of blood. From this time on White showed himself the better man and began forcing the fight. In the thirty second round he delivered a blow which knocked Morgan senseless but the trainers managed to get the man up before time was called. Morgan was a pitiable sight both eyes being nearly closed and his body a mass of bruises and cuts. White showed only a few marks. From the thirty eighth to the fifty fourth round the fight was more one sided than ever, consisting of mad rushes by Morgan who was nearly blind and quick savage blows by White. In the middle of the fifty fourth round the police made a raid and arrested the combatants allowing the others to escape.

THE BASEBALL CONTROVERSY

A Long Address Defining the Position of the National League.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov 21.—The committee of the National Baseball League has issued a lengthy address to the public defining the position of that organization in the present baseball controversy. The address glorifies the work of the National League for the past fourteen years, setting forth at great length how it rescued the national game from the slough of corruption and disgrace into which it had fallen in professional play prior to 1876.

It tells of all the reforms the league has accomplished and how it has brought [illegible] to a high standard and how the salaries of the players have more than trebled and a higher degree of skill been attained.

Speaking of the causes of complaint it says that the reserve rule was adopted [illegible] as a check upon [illegible] for the next season. The [illegible] being benefited by the reserve [illegible] vital to the reserve [illegible] arose [illegible] for pecuniary considerations. [illegible] the address says that except in the cases of disbanding [illegible] the right of a club [illegible] has [illegible] been transferred without the player's consent. In the exception [illegible] movement [illegible] which complaint was made by the brotherhood [illegible] the committee of the players [illegible] was obliged to admit that such involuntary transfer was absolutely essential to the [illegible] of the league. The address calls attention to the fact that the new Players League has given the extraordinary power of transferring players with or without consent or club disbandment to the central tribunal of sixteen directors and says that in view of these facts the [illegible] cries [illegible] slavery [illegible] sold like sheep etc become absurd. At the annual meeting of the league in November 1887 the brotherhood received recognition on the statement of its representatives that it was organized for benevolent purposes, and disowning any intention to interfere with the business affairs of the league. This contract has never been violated by the league in letter or in spirit.

Regarding the alleged 'enormous profits' of the league clubs the address says that during the past five and the only prosperous years the league has known, there has been paid in cash dividends to the stockholders in the eight league clubs less than $150 000, while during the same time the league players have received in salaries over a million and a half of dollars. The address says that the brotherhood knew when they made the demand for a conference this summer that there was no urgency for the consideration of their claims and that the league could not, without the sacrifice of pecuniary and other interests, convene its clubs in midsummer. They decided on the refusal to start a rival organization, while receiving liberal salaries from their employers. They secured the signatures of numbers of their brother players under the false promise that they would only secede in the event of the league's refusing them justice, and for some time after the publication of their conspiracy, Sept 7 they and their abettors denied that there was any foundation for the story and repeatedly pledged their word that the league should have a chance.

The address concludes from all this that an edifice built on falsehood has no moral foundation and must perish of its own weight. The league will aid its clubs in the enforcement of the contract rights and will continue to do business as heretofore.

COMMODORE WILSON'S REPORT.

Estimates and Expenses of the Bureau of Construction and Repairs.

WASHINGTON, Nov 21.—Commodore Wilson, chief of the bureau of construction and repairs, has submitted to Secretary Tracy a voluminous report of the operations performed under the supervision of the bureau during the year ended June 30 1889 and the estimates for the coming fiscal year ending June 30 1891. The latter includes Salaries in the bureau $21,520, the preservation and completion of vessels on the stocks the purchase of materials and stores, all kinds labor in the navy yard etc. $1 000,000, clerks etc in the navy yards $19,272 the improvement of the plant at the New York navy yard $25 000 at the Norfolk navy yard, $50 000 at the Mare Island yard, San Francisco, $75 000 on account of the hulls and outfits for new ships heretofore authorized by congress $4,000,000 for the improvement of the plant at the Portsmouth navy yard $150 000 at the Boston yard, $150 000 at the League island yard, Philadelphia $150 000 for the construction of two tugs, $80 000, for the construction of one freight boat, $450,000.

During the year 1888-89 the following expenditures were made: Repairs on vessels at the navy yard $373 364 construction and repairs, $779 143 labor at the navy yards and stations and material, $110 905 civil establishments $19 935 steel [illegible] $15 281, repairs of vessels, $120,164 increase of the navy $748 127.

The commodore presents a lengthy argument in favor of increasing the efficiency of navy yards, as indicated in the estimates, saying that his great nation should not close any of its navy yards. The report says that after eight or nine years there will be no wooden vessels remaining in active service. A deficiency appropriation will be necessary in order that the work of construction and repairs may be carried on during the remainder of the present fiscal year without interruption. The single turret monitors are said to be now in a worse than useless state, and the report recommends that something be done with them to put them into condition for efficient service in harbor and coast defense. It will cost it is estimated $4[illegible]0 000. There are thirteen of these monitors. Commodore Wilson calls attention to the difficulty of getting satisfactory bids for the construction of vessels when the cost is limited by the acts authorizing them to be built, and recommends that in the future the bureau be not crippled by such legislation.

With the completion of the vessels now building and appropriated for the United States will possess ten armored vessels thirteen single turreted monitors, twenty one steel cruisers, or gun boats two dynamite cruisers a practice cruiser for cadets an armored ram one first-class torpedo boat and seven iron steamers. The work of rebuilding the navy is progressing very satisfactorily and the results accomplished during the past six months are sufficient guarantee of the purpose of the department to advance the work with the utmost rapidity, and of its energy and success in the performance of the task. The vessels already under contract and building at the navy yards are progressing favorably, and some are rapidly nearing completion. The progress made upon the armored cruiser Maine, at the navy yard at New York deserves special mention, and is very creditable to that yard. It will be thus seen that as far as lies within its power the department is vigorously endeavoring to satisfy the popular demand for establishing a navy worthy of the United States and commensurate with its importance as a maritime power.

IN LAWLESS TEXAS

The Difficulties Encountered by Federal Officials in Some Sections.

WASHINGTON Nov 21.—Attorney General Miller has received a long report from the United States marshal for the Northern district of Texas regarding the difficulty of administering the Federal laws in consequence of the feeling of hostility on the part of certain state officials. The trouble arose from the steps taken by the Federal officers for the protection of the four Marlowe brothers held as government witnesses. A portion of the community became exasperated at these men and attempted to wreak summary vengeance upon them. As the jail at Graham is not secure the Federal officers started to remove them to a safer place. They had not proceeded far when they were attacked by a mob. Two of the Marlowes were killed on the first onslaught, when the other two wrested knives from their assailants amputated the feet of their dead brothers, to whom they were manacled, and fled to a farmhouse, where they held the mob at bay until assistance arrived.

Three of the mob were killed and a number wounded. Among those who have been indicted for complicity in this attack on the government prisoners are two constables the sheriff and deputy sheriff of the county the attorney, and a son of the county judge. The district attorney says that Young county not only fails to provide a suitable jail for the use of the United States court, but its officers are in violent antagonism thereto. He does not see how they can avoid the necessity of armed men at Graham during the sessions of the United States court and makes an appeal that congress remove the court to some other point.

BLAME IS ATTACHED

Remains of Forsythe—Lester W of Manslaughter

impaneled a jury yesterday on the remains of who was killed by the of Frank Lester six shooter hotel Wednesday evening The witnesses was brief returning the stereotyped that the deceased came to of a pistol No blame was

J D Rothfor and Paul Alex eye witnesses to the tragedy former stated that the weapon carelessly dropped to the floor Alex that Lester was getting up the weapon accidentally dropped Lester himself who to testify on this point made an examination of the fatal right side and in his opin the direction of the bullet, the ball passed through the right lung and punctured the heart

The prosecuting attorney evidently differs from the coroner's jury in exculpating Lester from all blame as he proposes to prosecute him on a charge of manslaughter. The law excuses crimes committed through accident but not crimes committed through accident in the commission of a crime. A burglar in attempting to commit a robbery would be held accountable were he to shoot some one through accident and the law may place the same interpretation on this case. Lester carried his weapon in violation of the law and while in his possession in this relation to law it was accidentally discharged and Forsythe was killed.

While there is no desire in the community that Lester should be made an example of there is a general feeling that crimes committed through culpable negligence or carelessness though purely accidental should be punished. Though Lester was on the best of terms with Forsythe and there was not the least malice in the commission of the crime termed accidental this is no excuse or justification for spilling innocent blood. The penalty for carrying concealed weapons is not high enough to induce those violating this ordinance to make any sacrifice of fort in exercising care and if some adequate punishment were prescribed for crimes committed through carelessness even though accidental the tendency would be to make people more careful. The public would feel a greater safety and it might be the means of saving innocent lives. The fines for carrying concealed weapons range from $2 50 to $50 the usual penalty in ordinary case being $5 0

Lester was arraigned in the police court yesterday afternoon but as the state was not prepared to proceed with the prosecution the case was continued another day

Assistant General Freight Agent S C Fulton of the Northern Pacific has returned from a visit to the Sound ports. The improvement is perhaps more marked at Seattle since the fire. It is astonishing the vast amount of building material the people there have got together. The Northern Pacific however has contributed in no small degree to help them by making low rates on this material. We have been carrying large quantities of lumber stone and brick to them especially brick. Shipments of this commodity frequently reach 6 000 to 7 000 per day. This we have hauled for little more than our construction rate of a cent a ton a mile. They have also shipped large quantities of stone from the Wilkeson and Ignino quarries, and considerable lumber from local mills along the Pacific and Cascades divisions. At Tacoma we have just completed a fine large freight building which is now ready and will be occupied as soon as the city makes ready the street leading to it

DOUBTLESS AN OLD FAKE

Two Slips of Paper Found in a Soda Water Bottle That Had Been Cast Adrift

A gentleman writing from Sand Lake encloses two scraps of paper which he says he found on the ocean beach near Cape Lookout. He says The bottle had evidently been afloat four years and how it came ashore so far from the place mentioned in the writings seems wonderful

There is nothing wonderful about it. It is the same old fake that some silly person perpetrates every little while. The notes taken from the bottle profess to have been written by passengers on the White Wing and are intended to convey the idea that the craft is lost. One of them is written on the only piece of paper on board and says the vessel sailed from England and the other is written on another piece of paper and says the vessel sailed from Africa

The person who inclosed them to THE OREGONIAN thought they might give some information as to the loss of the White Wing. The bottle was probably fixed up by a band of giggling gum chewing school girls on a visit to Yaquina as the notes are signed by Susy and Mary Ann. This sort of thing is tiresome to newspaper men

One Little Piece of Fly Paper Caused all the Unhappiness

In a popular boarding house in this city there is a fine cat which is made a pet of by the patrons of the establishment. A day or two since this favored feline was seated on a table by a window basking in the sunshine and watching the arrival of the boarders as they came in to dinner. On the same table was a sheet of fly paper also basking in the sunshine and lying low for a chance to catch [illegible]

As the cat saw a particular friend coming toward the house it began to sway its caudal appendage to and fro after the style of the feline race and it [illegible] brushed a corner of the sheet of fly paper which immediately froze onto and stuck tighter than a brother. When puss resumed the waving of her tail the fly paper rose to the situation and tried to wave too but there was too much fly paper for so little tail and the wave was a failure all around. The cat noticing that her tail was hampered looked around at the same time contracting the muscles of her back to raise her appendage and when she saw the fly paper apparently coming after her the animal made a terrific leap and landed on all four feet in the tureen of soup which had just been placed upon the table. As might be supposed it did not stop there long but charged down the length of the table like a cyclone knocking everything endways and then started for the garret three stairs at a time the fly paper trying to grasp her at every jump but failing to get left. The cat roamed over the upper regions until at last it was exhausted before it could be caught and released, and now all that is necessary in order to see the pussy's absent from the room is to [illegible] a piece of paper at her

Their field of labor lies with the sick and afflicted in the three city hospitals. In the summer they go about the city gathering choice flowers from the gardens that are bountifully supplied and these they carry to the bedside of the sick. Each Saturday in the week they are engaged in this labor of love, and each Saturday anxious hearts wait for their welcome coming. These brief visits by the young people are the happiest hours of the sick. Kind cheering words happy smiles and beautiful flowers that fill the small sick chamber with their sweet perfume are remedial agents of perhaps greater potency than physicians' pills. Forgotten are the pangs of pain that rack the body through weary hours the heart feels happy and hope grows brighter in the realization that they are remembered

In the winter when flowers are not so plentiful these young Samaritans resort to such entertainments as will be given this evening the proceeds being devoted to the purchase of flowers fruit and other delicacies for the sick. The entertainment to-night will be of a character to please all and there is no doubt that the young workers will meet with success for their energetic efforts and devotion to the cause they espouse

Before the regular three hours ride by the lady bicyclists for the eighteen hours championship Morgan and Kennedy the Colorado champion rode a five mile contest. The race resulted in a victory for Morgan who won the contest in 16 minutes and 20 seconds Kennedy being only about five yards behind. There was also an exhibition of trick cycling by Kennedy and Master Willie Mulligan. Their performances as usual won the applause of the spectators who greeted every daring feat with prolonged cheers. The riding by Jessie Oaks Helen Baldwin and Kittie O'Brien continued until a quarter past [illegible] o'clock owing to a delay in starting. At the finish Jessie Oaks was in the lead Helen Baldwin second and Miss O'Brien third. The distance for the evening was [illegible] miles and 1 lap and the distance for the four nights or twelve hours is 187 miles and 7 laps. The riders appear in a different uniform every evening and [illegible] person wonders where the supply comes from

The position of the three riders is commented on by the spectators as they all ride so differently. Jessie Oaks leans pretty far forward and retains a fixed position throughout the evening. Helen Baldwin sits more erect than either of the others and only when she is making a spurt to gain the lead does she bend forward. Kitty O'Brien's riding reminds one of a tender locust tree in [illegible] a calm and a tempest. She sways considerably but manages to get there

As Joseph [illegible] the French champion bicyclist who arrived from San Francisco yesterday entered the inclosure within the track he was greeted with applause as a great many appeared to recognize him. Paul Shipley and Frank Jones two members of the Bay City Bicycling Club of San Francisco, also arrived yesterday

This evening in addition to the riding by Oaks Baldwin and O'Brien there will be a two mile contest open to all amateurs. Those who have already entered their names are George W Brown Dr Newcastle W H Spalding J J Wirtner Paul Shipley Frank James and a rider from Albina

AND THE WORK STILL GOES ON

The Marquam Grand Opera House Is Slowly Approaching Completion

The street in front of the Marquam Grand opera house is littered with huge steel girders and piles of brick and a force of bricklayers are at work on the Morrison street front. There is enough stone cut to furnish the lower two stories and when this is done work on the building will be stopped till spring

The huge stones for the bases of the archway leading to the theater are being cut in very handsome style, and a cement ready to set the arch [illegible] will be completed this winter. The days are getting so short that it has been found necessary to put electric lights in the theater building so that the workmen can make full time. They will probably now work after time and if necessary two shifts of men will be kept at work. The interior of the building will begin to take shape soon. Of the ornamental work of the boxes being put in and the [illegible] soon be completed

AT TABERNACLE CHRISTIAN CHURCH

An Increased Attendance Last Night Interesting Discourse

The attendance at the Tabernacle corner of East Park and Columbia streets last night was largely increased and Dr Reese preached a most convincing discourse on What Must We Do. His text was Acts ii 3 8. He showed what the question involved who asked it and the qualifications of the man who answered it. He then made an analysis of the answer which showed that faith in Christ repentance [illegible] turning away from sin and baptism in the name of Christ for the remission of sins [illegible] the conditions of salvation from sin. He then took up the word remission and showed most conclusively that its meaning to send away. It meant their own sending away of their sins to Christ, who was made to bear our sins. He said he received a notice to remit what is owed a certain firm—to send it away to them. [illegible] argued that the word in Acts ii 38 means the same. The argument was a new line of thought and was carefully listened to by the large audience present. The meetings at the Tabernacle are increasing both attendance and interest. Eight have united with the church to date

Services tonight at 7 30. Subject of discourse The Kingdom With [illegible] All are invited

SOMETHING ABOUT FRUIT

The Orange Crop Good but Light—Oregon's Few Pears—Apples Not Keeping Well

Shippers to distant points are beginning to hear from their apple shipments. Apples shipped to China have been arriving in bad condition owing to the generally poor quality of the article [illegible]

New grass California butter has shown up in quantities in the local market already and promises to demoralize the dealers in Eastern butter who have made arrangements for handling it pretty heavily. This influx of California butter is quite a month earlier than usual and as the supply will in all probability continue to pour in some shippers of the Eastern article are apt to be badly fooled

California pears are being shipped in now. This is unusual for this time of year and is the result of Oregon's light crop. We generally have a few early in the season before the local supply begins to come in but a regular shipment of California pears at this season is said to be almost unprecedented. The importation will undoubtedly continue

Inquiries made yesterday about the prospects of the orange crop did not result in very definite information as to what prices are going to be. I've received advices, said Mr Dunbar from California packers stating that the prospects are for a better quality than usual but the crop is not quite up to the average in quantity. It will be a month yet before any can be shipped though the usual carload of Riversides for Christmas trade will probably be forthcoming. A limited quantity will be ripe by that time. It is too early yet to quote prices

STILL CARRIES THE BROOM

The Steamer Multnomah a Faster Boat Than the State of Washington

The steamer Multnomah was transferred to the Sound some time ago where she has a regular run. Although the Multnomah was not the fastest steamer on the river when she left here she could come very near holding her own with any of them. On the Sound the rivalry between the teams is very sharp and they happen alongside of each other [illegible] throw open the throttle and run until the steam [illegible] allows them to carry

The Multnomah has been noted for her fast time since taking her run [illegible] a race yesterday as the following special will show

SEATTLE Nov 21

H W Welch Portland —The steamer Multnomah beat the greyhound of the Sound the steamer State of Washington [illegible] minutes in twenty [illegible] today and still retains the broom

The Albany & Astoria Railway Hearing—A Smithy—Quick Time Still Missing

[illegible]

[illegible] son from youth to fortune and [illegible] unknown arrived here and last Monday night [illegible] against a modest little faro game where he dropped $40. He seemed quite resigned and diving into his inside pocket produced a blank check on the Spokane National bank. Well said he mournfully here goes this is the last of it. I reckon I might as well buck this away with the balance. He [illegible] out the check for $820 signed the name of [illegible] and to it in good order. It was cashed. He gets [illegible] North American twenty dollar gold pieces for [illegible] then the game went on. He won back his $40 [illegible] quit the whole business and his pocket went on [illegible] the voiceless night to see a man [illegible] town [illegible] place

Yesterday the old [illegible] owner of the faro game telegraphed to Spokane Falls and got an answer from the bank there on which the check was drawn that they did not know any J Baylet and [illegible] have [illegible] in that bank

So that the game is out just $820 and the beverages

It is little things like that that make men lose their faith in human nature

W B Barr chief engineer of the Albany & Astoria railroad arrived in the city yesterday afternoon. He is accompanied by L J Lanning, the treasurer of the corporation. The gentlemen are here on business in connection with the building of their road [illegible] Mr Barr was seen last evening at the [illegible] hotel and asked if it was true that the corporation he represented intended to build the line between Albany and this city at once

In regard to how soon the work will begin I cannot [illegible] said the gentleman I know however the company means business. They have plenty of money but I hardly think that building will commence much before spring. [illegible] Albany & Astoria will connect the two cities inside of a year I have no doubt

In regard to his mission here Mr Barr said that he received instructions a few days ago to go to his city and carefully examine the country between Astoria and Tillamook and report on the route for a line of road. He has not come prepared to make a survey. His instructions are simply to select the best route. With this object in view Mr Barr will leave this morning, and thoroughly examine the country between this city and Tillamook

From Tillamook to Albany the company has the road surveyed and building is expected to commence at any time. While not saying so directly Mr Barr's conversation gave the impression that a survey of this end of the line would be made within a few weeks

HIGHWAY ROBBERS CONVICTED

A Negro and White Man Found Guilty in the Criminal Court Yesterday

Yesterday morning John Barry white and George Smith colored were tried in the criminal court for the robbing of David Larsons on Second and A streets, on the [illegible] instant. Counsel for the defense tried to make out that upon that occasion the prosecuting witness was so drunk that he could remember nothing but that line of defense had no weight with the jury and in five minutes after the close of the arguments the prisoners were found guilty as charged in the indictment. The convicted men will be sentenced this morning

SPECIMENS OF BIRDS WANTED

The Museum Department of the Oregon Alpine Club Desire a Full Collection

The museum department of the Oregon Alpine Club is using its best endeavors to form a collection of Oregon birds and as the museum [illegible] in its infancy birds of all descriptions are needed. The club has a taxidermist employed and all specimens will receive careful and proper treatment. As the object of the department is the foundation of a public museum in this city it should receive the support of the sportsmen of this city and the donation of specimens from [illegible]

The rooms [illegible] the Portland Savings bank building [illegible] open to the public from 6 to [illegible] every evening and also during the day

All express companies of the coast will carry specimens intended for the museum free of charge and the curator B J Bretherton will attend to addressing the [illegible] and get specimens if notified

Mrs [illegible] the latest applicant for a [illegible] has commenced suit in the circuit court against her husband John Parmer for a legal separation

In her complaint she alleges among other things that her husband [illegible] neglect her by staying [illegible] until [illegible] hours often not coming home [illegible] o'clock in the morning. [illegible] not specify where her husband passed his time [illegible] intimates with women of easy virtue occupying a place that should have been filled by her. She concludes her complaint by alleging, that he finally deserted her and has since become a gross and habitual drunkard

THE DANUBE WILL CONTINUE

The Canadian Pacific's Trouble With Mr Pierce Has Been Fixed Up

Private advices have been received from Europe to the effect that the Canadian Pacific has patched up its difference with William Pierce, the owner of the Danube so that it will continue to ply between here and Victoria connecting with the Canadian Pacific's steamship line to Hong Kong

It will be remembered that the company is now engaged in making a full line of these steamships for the [illegible] and gave notice some two weeks ago to Mr Pierce that they wished to sever the contract. The matter has been fixed up on what basis is yet unknown but and Mr Pierce will continue to execute his present contract until another one [illegible] expired at which time the company's own steamers will be put upon the service

JUNEAU Alaska Nov 13 via Port Townsend Wash Nov 21 —The first republican convention ever held in Alaska convened at Juneau on November [illegible] Delegates were present from all parts of the territory except to the westward and Yukon river country

After effecting a permanent organization a memorial to congress was passed asking that the territory be allowed a delegate to congress that the homestead laws be extended to Alaska in modified form that the laws relating to the cutting of timber be so modified as to permit its being used for domestic purposes by canneries for the packing and exportation of their fish for the importation of furniture and other articles actually manufactured within the territory and for the creation of a commission for the purpose of submitting to congress a code of laws for the territory

A memorial was passed recommending M [illegible] W Bruce as a member of the republican national committee for Alaska. He will head a delegation to Washington to urge upon congress the passage of such enactments as are urged in the above memorial

VIOLATING THE LIQUOR LAWS

A Raid Made on Saloonkeepers With but Poor Results

Just as the Alaskan steamer Corona steamed out of sight at midnight on October 27 C S Blackett deputy collector of Juneau with three assistants started in at one end of the town to seize all liquors found. Within fifteen minutes after they started upon this raid the proprietors of the twenty one saloons had been notified, and bottles demijohns and casks were hurried away, and when the officers made their appearance nothing could be found but the lingering fragrance of departed spirits. Probably $100 worth of liquor was seized and as day broke the officers rested from their efforts and the raid was discussed over many a glass. The unlicensed sale of liquors in Alaska still continues and the enforcement of the United States prohibition law will be a failure and a farce until the government empowers the customs officers with sufficient force to make their seizures complete and effectual

SUBURBAN NEWS ITEMS.

The Y. M. C. A. Business Men's Carnival Repeated.

Society Organized—Lecture—A Tool Thief—New Cottages—A New Church—Albina News Notes.

The Y. M. C. A. business men's carnival was repeated last night and the attendance was quite large, there being present about 500. There was more space for the parade of costume-wearers and the drill of the little girls. The evening closed with some excellent vocal selections from Mrs. George Parrish, Mr. E. J. Floyd, the male quartette and an amusing character song from Mr. Ed Raymond. The proceeds of the two entertainments are substantial, and will greatly aid the association in its work.

WILL GIVE A CONCERT.

The "Ladies Missionary Society" of Mizpah church Thibbet's addition, East Portland, will give a concert Sunday evening, November 24, beginning at 7:30. The following programme will be rendered. Voluntary; anthem; reading of the Scriptures; invocation; singing; address by the president, Mrs. Brooks; solo, "Go Ye Into All the World," Miss Morgan; reading, "Take Away the Stone," Mrs. Haverly; singing; recitation, Belle Neely; duet, Misses Brooks and Clark; reading, "Pitchers and Lamps," Mrs. Kelly; singing; recitation, Agnes Kelly; quartette, "Go Work." Misses Stanburrough and Clark and Messrs. Turner and Martin; paper, "Foreign Missions," Mrs. Stanburrough; singing; benediction. All are cordially invited to attend.

SOCIETY ORGANIZED.

A Ladies' and Pastors' Aid Society has been organized in the Centenary M. E. church through the efforts of Dr. Bushong, the aim of which is to look up strangers and give them a warm welcome—visit the sick, care for the indigent and raise moneys for the furnishing of the parsonage, and for the needs of the church not otherwise provided for. It has the following officers: President, Mrs. D. Bushong; vice president, Mrs. Hill; treasurer, Mrs. R. M. Robb; secretary, Mrs. M. L. Kenworthy. The executive committee consists of Mesdames Abraham, McClure and Dildine.

TOOLS STOLEN.

It seems that locks do not always deter thieves from carrying on their nefarious work. A lady living near a new house on P and Seventh streets heard a loud pounding in the dead of the night, and thought it was the carpenters. But the next day one of the workmen on the house found that his tool chest had been broken open and many of his most valuable tools stolen. There is no clue to the thief.

SPECIAL MENTION.

E. J. Floyd, the plumber, was represented both evenings at the carnival by his daughter, Miss Lela, in appropriate costume. She was adorned with the trappings of a plumber house in miniature and in her hand bore a tiny and elegantly constructed bath tub. Altogether her costume was unique and attractive.

A NEW CHURCH.

Lumber is being hauled to the vacant lot corner of Sixth and P, owned by the German Evangelical society, for the erection of a fine church there. This enterprise was projected some time ago, but now has assumed tangible shape. This is the second church enterprise that has been inaugurated in East Portland this year.

GONE TO GRASS VALLEY.

The many friends of Mrs. Cassie Hamilton (nee Washburn) a graduate of the Portland Business college, will be pleased to learn that she is helping her husband, the postmaster of Grass Valley, as assistant in the office. She also acts as bookkeeper in the store.

NEW COTTAGES.

Mr. John Kenworthy has contracted for the immediate construction of three commodious cottages on P and Ninth streets. A hundred such houses would scarcely supply the applicants for one week.

CONGRESSIONAL REMINISCENSES.

Hon. M. C. George lectures this (Friday) night at the Congregational church, Holladay's addition, on "Reminiscenses of Congress." The lecture is entertaining, full of wit and instruction.

NOT MISS BLODGETT.

Miss Blodgett did not recite Wednesday night at the carnival as was stated by mistake, it was Miss Ethel Grubbs.

ALBINA'S CONTRIBUTION.

WHAT WAS DONE AT THE LAST REGULAR MEETING OF THE COUNCIL.

At a regular meeting of the common council of Albina the following business was transacted:

The meeting was called to order by Mayor McLachlin. All the members were present except Mr. Craig.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From H. C. Campbell, notifying the council that he protests against the improvement of Sellwood street in front of block 4, Abend's addition, to a width of only forty-five feet, and if so improved he will resist payment of the assessment; accepted and placed on file.

From A. J. Smithson, notifying the council that he had completed his contract with the city for the improvement of Borthwick and Kirby streets; placed on file.

A PETIT LARCENY CASE.

All day yesterday Judge Randall was busy hearing a case in his court of petty larceny—the state of Oregon against George Hilton.

Some time ago M. F. Morris leased to Hilton his tract of three acres near St. Johns, known as the Mason ranch, reserving all produce on the ground. Hilton didn't appreciate this, and so helped himself and appropriated four bushels of apples, tomatoes, cabbages, one-third ton of hay and eight chickens, to the disgust of Morris, who had him arrested for petty larceny to the amount of $22. The judge fined Hilton $10 and costs.

PORTLAND'S NEW PAPER.

A very creditable publication is the Portland Real Estate Bulletin, the first number of which has just been issued by the enterprising real estate and loan firm of Borthwick & Batty. It presents a fine array of facts and figures concerning the wonderful progress of Portland, is full of interesting facts for young men and heads of families, and devotes much space to detailing the merits of Woodlawn the popular suburb on the Vancouver motor line, for which Borthwick & Batty are agents. The Real Estate Bulletin is being distributed free, and copies will be mailed postpaid to any address, if you will leave names at No. 2 Washington street.

HE IS DOUBTLESS THE SAME MAN.

E. H. Boyce and His Connection With the Estate of the Late James B. Stephens.

The H. H. Boyce, mentioned in the dispatches yesterday as having been indicted by the grand jury at Los Angeles for trying to blackmail a justice there, is supposed to be the same H. H. Boyce who procured from Elizabeth McCall a deed to her supposed interest in the property of her father, the late James B. Stephens, and also a power of attorney, irrevocable, to do any act in reference thereto that he might see fit, and upon whose petition Mr. C. A. Gove was appointed administrator of said estate on the 10th of June last.

On Tuesday last Gove was removed by Judge Catlin for dereliction. In the petition asking for his removal it was alleged that Boyce, Gove, the administrator, W. S. Beebe, attorney for the parties, and John A. Carr were conspiring to circumvent the wishes and acts of James B. Stephens, and to undo what he had done just prior to his death in reference to his property. From this it would appear that Messrs. Carr, Beebe and Gove have, in some way, allowed themselves to become associated with a man of disreputable character, which is to be wondered at and regretted.

Those who may feel sympathy for Mrs. McCall in the effort to secure some of her father's property, notwithstanding her character and life, will feel less interest in the matter when they know that she would derive little, if any, benefit from any that could be secured, as it will go to Boyce et al.

YESTERDAY'S COURTROOM ECHOES.

Mail Robbery Case—A Nolle Prosequi Entered—Argued and Submitted—Other Legal Notes.

Deputy United States Marshal W. W. Roberts is back from a trip to Linkville, where he went to subpena witnesses in the cases of Dodd and Walker, arrested in that section on a charge of robbing the mail. They have been in jail here for some time and their trial is set for the 29th inst. Mr. Roberts narrowly missed being present at the holding up of a stage and robbing of a mail while gone, as the stage from Ager to Klamath was robbed the next trip after he passed over the line. He traveled in company with the judge and attorney of that district, and if the robber had only selected their stage for his victim he could have been caught, and tried and sentenced on the spot.

TWO MEN MADE HAPPY.

In the case of the United States vs. George McDonald, in the United States district court, a nolle prosequi was entered yesterday on motion of the district attorney. McDonald was charged with cutting timber on public land, but on investigation it was proved that he had cut only some small sticks for fuel in a locality where firewood was scarce. A similar step was taken in the case of the United States vs. J. W. Baker, charged with taking a letter out of the postoffice addressed to another person. It proved on investigation that he had merely taken a letter from a carrier to deliver to the owner. Just how it comes that such cases are brought into court is difficult to imagine. Somebody was probably overzealous, or was influenced by unworthy motives.

ARGUED AND SUBMITTED.

The case of Frederick V. Paulsen, seaman, against the ship Tillie E. Starbuck, her master, Captain C. Curtis, First Mate Gillon, and Second Mate Herman, to recover $2500 damages, was tried in the United States court yesterday, argued and submitted. Paulsen alleges that he was a victim, as the ladies who apply so very numerously for divorce now-a-days claim of cruel and inhuman treatment. He was beaten and bruised and put in irons and tied up and allowed to swing about and "slat" against things generally and thinks he will never get over the effects of his injuries.

JUSTICE COURT MATTERS.

Justice Phelan has been too ill to be at his office for two days. He hopes to resume business at the old stand this morning.

The greater portion of Justice Tuttle's time yesterday was taken up by a singular horse case. J. W. Guild sues E. J. Richards for the possession of a horse. It transpired in the evidence that some time in April last Mr. Guild's horse strayed from his ranch in Washington county. The horse was next seen on the streets of Portland a few weeks ago, drawing a grocery wagon driven by E. J. Richards.

John North had taken the horse up in April, and had broken it and gone to other expenses in advertising it, etc., amounting to some $86. North let Richards have the horse to use, and now the two refuse to give him up, except they be reimbursed as claimed. The possessors failed to show a proper compliance with the estray law, though they claim to have done what they thought was necessary.

Justice Tuttle took the case under advisement, and will render a decision this morning.

THE ORDINARY LEGAL GRIST.

The world may come and the world may go, but the police court appears to grind on forever. There is always a fair representation of offenders constituting the "small fry," while now and then a "big fish" gets in to add zest to the proceedings. Judge Tanner yesterday fined Fiddler Williams and John Russell $5 each for being drunk; Hermann Lowtz, John Conley and William Strain, same charge, $10 each; George Bradley, John Smith and Hermann Gutch, $15, $10 and $20 respectively for using abusive language to a German saloonkeeper named Henry Diesses, who a few days since had an examination in Justice Tuttle's court on a charge of assaulting Gutch with a large club.

William Davis and Dennis Lawrence were fined $10 and $20 respectively for roaming the streets after 12 o'clock, midnight.

A. E. Anderson and Charles Reed had an examination on a charge of robbing Barney Trainer of $60 while the latter was asleep in the I. X. L saloon on First street, between D and E. Anderson told an apparently honest story, in which he protested his innocence, but as the entire proceeding had a somewhat shady appearance, the court held both to appear before the grand jury under bonds in the sum of $500 each.

Barth Leitheiser, the man charged with incest, waived examination, and he too was held to answer, bail being fixed at $3000. The grand jury are already investigating the case.

LICENCES TO WED.

Marriage licences were granted yesterday to Joseph Harmon and Honora Buckley, John T. Concannon and Ellen F. Connertin and Peter Gourlay and Alice Shipley.

THE SHIP BUILDING INDUSTRY

BUTTEVILLE, Or., Nov. 20.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In reading THE OREGONIAN, I see there is some talk of admitting English built ships free of duty. Such a course would mean the death of the ship-building industry of America. With ship building plants costing less money, cheaper interest on capital invested, cheaper labor, and with cheaper material, foreign ship builders would soon ruin the builders of our own country. Even could we get ships as cheap as English ship owners do, we could not successfully compete with them. English sailors get from $15 to $20 per month, against American sailors' wages of from $30 to $40 per month. Interest is also higher in this country, and I should suppose insurance would be. While our ship builders are protected by a duty, the ship owners, with higher priced ships, interest and wages, are compelled to compete with the English ships, built by cheap English labor. This is free trade of the freest sort, and the decline of our merchant marine is the result; just as other industries would decline if not protected by a duty or some natural protection. As long as these cheaper foreign ships, sailed by cheaper officers and men, are allowed to compete on equal terms, I think our merchant marine will have a hard time to keep up. Our coast trade is flourishing, as foreigners can not compete with them. I think our statesmen will have a hard time to find a remedy. Should a tax be levied on foreign tonnage coming to our ports, it would raise the freight rates to paying prices for American bottoms and would raise a mighty howl from those that raise produce for export. A bounty could be paid for every ton exported or imported in American bottoms, I think neither of the two plans would meet the views of the majority of the people, but I believe one of the two will have to be adopted to resurrect our merchant marine, both steam and sail.

A CRAZY MAN'S CRIMES.

Mrs. E. C. A. English Tells the Story of Her Son's Wanderings.

Hunted By Detectives All Over the Union, He Yet Manages to Elude Them—She Will Not Pay Any More Claims.

It is some days since the name of Mrs. E. C. A. English, was written upon the register of the Esmond. It was soon learned that she was the mother of L. G. English, the young man now confined in the county jail, and against whom four indictments have been returned by the grand jury, for obtaining money under false pretenses. Reporters sent up their cards, but were informed that "Mrs. English did not wish to see reporters." An occasional glimpse of her tall, stately form was obtained as she might be seen going or coming from her son's cell in the jail, but that was all.

Through the intervention of a mutual acquaintance, Mrs. English told the story of her son's wanderings last evening at her rooms at the Esmond, and this is what she said:

"Leland was insane for two or three weeks when he was 9 years old. He injured an eye while at play, so that it subsequently became necessary to have it removed. Dr. Curtis, of Sacramento, now dead, who performed the operation told me then that this temporary period of insanity would be apt to return in later life, should heavy trial or extreme troubles come upon him. I little thought, then how true his prophecy would prove, or how deep would be the misery brought upon me through it. For I never thought I could endure what I have been through, for my sufferings have been

ALL THE TORTURES OF THE DAMNED.

"It was two years ago this September that the first crash came in Los Angeles, in which his heavy losses seemed to cause his mind to lose its balance. For a year he seemed to throw everything to the winds and indulged in vagaries of all kinds. Still I could not believe his mind had given way until last September a year ago.

"At this time I started him to his uncle at Palmyra, Mo. It seemed best for him to spend some months in that quiet country town, away from the scene of his troubles. Accordingly, I bought him a ticket and gave him $250 in money.

"The next information I had about him was in the form of two drafts, one from Denver and one from Kansas City. Then I knew that he was gone clear daft, for neither of these places was on his route to his uncle's home. I wrote to my brother, and he telegraphed me that he would go and try to find Leland."

A FURIOUS CHASE.

"From that day on for three months my brother was constantly on the wing. His satchel was unpacked only at home for a change of clothes. From one city to another as he would find traces he sped, but always to find Leland flown before him. He always employed detectives at a place when he left it, hoping by that means to eventually have him stopped in his mad career. He went to Denver, Kansas City, St. Louis, Chicago, Cincinnati, Pittsburg, New York, back to Pittsburg, again to New York, back to Pittsburg, with no tangible reason. He always drew drafts upon L. G. English & Co., seeming to think the firm was still in business at the old stand. Then we heard of him at Louisville, and my brother in ten minutes was thither bound. Leland was gone, however. Next we heard of him at St. Paul, and a man was sent up there to arrest him and bring him down, but he again had flown. This experience was repeated at Seattle. On the 26th of last March I received a note by a messenger, which was from Leland in town, and in which he said he was sorry he did not have time to call and see me. Before I could find him he had left town, apparently bound for Seattle, but changed his mind and came back to Marysville, Sacramento and San Francisco. Then, after considerable trouble I got out a warrant, had him examined and committed to the Napa asylum.

SHOWED SIGNS OF IMPROVEMENT.

"Well, after he had been there three months, he showed such signs of improvement that Dr. Wickins, the physician in charge, one day let him out on the promise that he would return whenever I said I wished it. Drs. Hatch and Dozier were both opposed to his being released, but he begged so hard that Dr. Wickins consented. I had no intimation of his release, and was perfectly thunderstruck when he walked into the room. I went to Dr. Wickins and expostulated with him. 'Don't you know, doctor,' I said, 'that he will never consent to go back?' And so it proved. For upon a recurrence of his malady, I begged and implored him to go back, but in vain."

Mrs. English here produced the leave of absence upon which her son is at large and which has been described in these columns. It is duly issued from the Napa asylum, and bears the signature and seal of the superintendent of that institution.

A SCARED CONFEDERATE.

"There had been a man with him almost constantly from the time he struck Louisville, who seems to have engineered the plans and schemes which Leland carried out. He wrote to Leland while he was in the asylum, from Seattle. This letter I answered, asking him to send Leland's trunk. This he did, and expressed himself sympathizingly to me. I then wrote him, saying that we had information of Leland's exploits and of a confederate who had been with him (he had written that he thought Leland was insane), and that if God ever let me set eyes on the man who had led my boy on to do as he had done and almost beggared me I should tear his eyes out. That letter must have made some impression on him, for he could no longer be found, and went to Yokohoma."

"How much has Leland cost you in the past year?"

"Not less than $20,000. We have telegraphed so much. We have employed detectives without stint. I have spent barrels of money in keeping the trouble from the newspapers. When he was committed to the asylum I had to spend large sums with detectives and reporters. People tell me now that telegraphic reports of his method of operations would have been the means of having had him apprehended, but we dreaded the disgrace. I am even afraid to talk to you. I don't know what kind of treatment I am going to get."

"Are there still large amounts outstanding?"

"Oh, yes. I soon stopped paying the drafts and they are scattered all over the country. Leland could borrow money in any town in America. How these people allowed themselves to be so imposed upon is beyond by conjecture. Yes, there are thousands and thousands out yet. Still, the sums are individually small. There are only two or three as large as $200. But if I pay one, I must pay all. I cannot do this without reducing myself to absolute starvation.

"I WILL NOT PAY THEM."

"There are three items here—Mr. Hazeltine's, Mr. Chase's and Mr. Baher's—$230 in all. I have seen a letter written by a wealthy citizen of your city to one of these claimants, stating that Leland's insanity was well known to the writer, that I was the last woman in the world to disown a rightful obligation. But I am told that one of them has told Mr. McGinn that he would not withdraw his complaint if his wife should ask it on her knees; and that he was to push this prosecution if it cost him $5000, and draw on the claimant for the money."

"Will you make an effort for his release?"

"I will not bail him out. I could go to Ladd & Tilton's bank to-morrow and draw the money for his bail. I do not want him released until he goes in charge of an officer to an insane asylum, and when he is there he must stay there. They bring up Tripler's case against me. Let me tell you that

"TRIPLER IS NOW INSANE."

"He was discharged from Salem as cured, but was not cured by any means, for he is to-day an inmate of the Stockton asylum.

"I never knew until lately that Leland had inherited insanity. But three of his cousins have gone crazy, and in much the same manner. They were on his father's side. Two were young ladies, one a young man. The young man became a total imbecile. The young ladies were affected much as Leland. One of them committed suicide some years ago while insane. The other, who was said to be the most beautiful girl that walked the streets of St. Louis, lost her reason. She was found in a low groggery among the vilest associates. There are scores of people who know me and know Leland at Los Angeles and San Francisco who will take oath he is insane."
